

WE NOMINATE

Warren Philo Elmer Jr., energetic, 42-year old chairman of Princeton Country Day School's Board of Trustees and Director of Placement within Princeton University, who looms large on Princeton horizons as a leader in public affairs and as a citizen conscientiously wrestling with "growth, progress and development" in a community deeply concerned with education and research. Two unrelated events over the past several days, the issuance of a carefully composed "progress report" by the Princeton Day Schools and the Career Panels for the University's upperclassmen on Friday and Saturday, underscored the range of Elmer's interests and his capacities for service.

Together with 28 other Princetonians, constituting a well-rounded Board of Trustees functioning under the leadership of two former officers of the University, President Emeritus Harold Willis Dodds and Director of Admission Charles William Edwards, the Missouri-born Elmer is filling a major role in the gradual evolution of the Princeton Day Schools, an amalgam of Miss Fine's School (girls) and Princeton Country Day (boys). Ultimately, and with the first step in a three-stage move to a 72-acre tract on The Great Road now time-tabled for 1965, these combined schools will accommodate nearly 900 students in all.

As the chief executive of the University's Placement Bureau, the highly responsible post to which he was advanced this past summer as successor to Gordon Gowans Sikes, Elmer was the architect for the two-day series of 11 panel discussions, bringing undergraduates into direct contact with men qualified to speak authoritatively about their areas of specialization. For instance, students interested in exploring the possibilities of "domestic" Government Service were able to fire questions at such leaders as Governor Richard J. Hughes and Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, Deputy Attorney General, while Allen W. Dulles, former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, diplomat Livingston T. Meaphant and Peace Corps Secretary William W. Warner were on hand to discuss "international" Government Service.

Elmer's debut in the intensely competitive placement field couldn't have been a more auspicious one. Early last winter, while rounding out his assignment as a quarterback for the eminently successful "$53 Million for Princeton" Program, he was given the seemingly impossible task of launching a Summer Intern Program for Princetonians in Washington. Although he started months behind "the opposition," and in a labyrinth of agencies and offices where there are a dozen applicants for every summer opening, he marshalled strong alumni support, landed worthwhile jobs for 26 Princetonians, and by summer's close could report that "Princeton in Washington" is on a solid foundation.

The son of a distinguished St. Louis physician, a past president of the Princeton Class of 1912, and a Purple Heart veteran of World War II's Parachute Artillery, Elmer was "called back" to Princeton in 1949 after he had completed three years as teacher, administrative officer and coach in the top-flight St. Louis Country Day School. For the next eight years, until he was tapped for yeoman's work as a fund-raiser, Elmer directed the Alumni Schools Committee Program.

For his grasp of the needs and aspirations of privately sustained education, particularly in a community where excellent public and independent schools have developed side-by-side; for his unflagging devotion to a variety of service enterprises ranging from P.C.D. to the Princeton Y.M.C.A., the Red Cross and the Procter Foundation; he is our nominee as

This Is PRINCETON

WATER COMPANY SOLD Controlling Interest Bought.
Princeton water-drinkers found that leaf smell and that chemical taste coming out of their water-faucets again last weekend. And then, in one of the nearest bits of accidental timing on record, they learned that the Princeton Water Company has been sold.

Controlling interest in the company, held by Princeton University, has been acquired by the Elizabethtown Water Company, whose executive vice-president is Henry Patterson, mayor of the Borough of Princeton. The controlling interest is 53 percent.

Final approval of the sale
must be given by the Public Utilities Commission, and is expected to be granted following hearings scheduled for this Thursday in Newark. Neither party would reveal the dollar-amount involved in the purchase.

Not Again! The leaf smell and taste were first noticed earlier this fall after the company began to take water from the canal for the first time.
Activated carbon was used immediately, and the leaf smell went away. In fact, things cleared up so completely, according to Walter Jefferson, secretary-treasurer of the water company, that engineers stopped using the carbon. As soon as they stopped, the leaf smell and taste emerged again.

So the activated carbon treatment has been resumed, and will be continued indefinitely,
Mr. Jefferson said.

During the Saturday-through-Monday period, some 30 calls from disturbed householders were received in water company offices.

Engineers Confer. A chemist and an engineer from Elizabeth were in Princeton on Monday and Tuesday confer-
ing with Princeton Water Company engineers about operations as a whole, and about the leaf problem in particular.
Robert W. Kean, Jr., president of Elizabethtown, said, in announcing the purchase, that an improvement program of "several hundred thousand dollars" would be scheduled as soon as P.U.C. approval is announced.

Mr. Patterson, expanding
Tuesday on the announcement, said that the company probably would begin some improvements in late spring
in order to prevent a water-pressure problem like the one that left Princeton households high and dry last May.

He said that there would probably be four such improvements:

- Installing a telemetering device to show when tanks are getting low.
- Exploring the well field
at Harrison Street to see whether re-drilling and the installation of new pumps would improve the production of these wells.

- Making considerable changes in the Stony Brook plant so that more water and better water can be pumped from there.

- Laying additional mains to tie into the John Street
standpipe. One of these mains,
Mr. Patterson said, smiling, would probably be laid along Westcott Road in front of his house.

Increased Rates? Although
the company does not plan to petition P.U.C. for a rate increase, Mr. Patterson said, it

TRANSACTION DISCUSSED.
Mayor Henry Patterson, now a part-owner of the Princeton Water Co., reported this week
on plans for improved service.

It is probable that rates will have to be raised to meet the costs of improvement.

Elizabethtown is one of the largest private water companies in the state, serving 101-480 meters in an area stretching from Elizabethtown to the east to Somerville on the west.

"There is no answer to the immediate problems of the Princeton Water Company," Mayor Patterson commented.
"Elizabethtown has the capital and the technical staff that Princeton just doesn't have."

Mr. Patterson added that he had not initiated the purchase and had had nothing to do with the negotiations.

According to Ricardo Mestres, treasurer of the Universi-sity, it was felt by University officials, following a year-long series of water crises, that it might be desirable to merge with a larger company that could provide the capital to make improvements. Several companies were interested in buying out the University's interest, Mr. Mesres said.

P.U.C. and actual transfer of the controlling interest, the Princeton Water Company will operate as a separate entity,

there will be no day-to-day supervision and no operation.
Elizabethtown officials will sit

the Princeton Water Company.
Commenting on the pur-quently concerned about prob-

Round-Up

Words of Warning: Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan reminds merchants that bogus check-passing annually reaches a peak during the holiday season. He suggests that all requests to honor checks be carefully screened during the next three weeks.

Chief McCrohan has a word, too, for householders who neglect to remove snow from their sidewalks. Violators of the ordinance will be prosecuted, he reports, following years of unnecessary leniency. The law requires that sidewalks be cleaned within 12 hours of daylight after a snowfall or the formation of ice. The police chief has particularly in mind those who leave town without making proper provision in the event of snow.

Additional police patrols will be on duty during the holiday season to guard against thievery, especially from parked automobiles. Christmas packages are often taken while car owners are shopping elsewhere or stopping for a bite to eat.

Police are also looking for the individual whose pastime is slashing the top of convertibles. The eighth such incident this fall occurred last weekend when the roof of a car owned by William Gallant, 9 Erdman Avenue, was cut up while it was parked near the Playhouse.

Automobiles are consistently the most frequent target of sneak thieves. The generator of a car owned by Arthur Jeffries, 9 Palmer Square, was stolen while it was parked near that address, and a bowling ball and bowling shoes were taken from a car in the Palmer Square parking yard owned by William Keffer of Hopewell.

"A Lonely Room He Calls 'My House'"

From the 1962 Town Topics Christmas Appeal:

"The case of 7-year-old Henry, an old-appearing lad with a frightened smile, speaks not only for his own family but for any others who might be caught in the situation created by a bullying older brother and a baby sister years his junior. Unable to compete with his brother, and shunted aside in a home dominated by a beguiling infant, Henry more and more retreated into himself and all too often relied upon tears and tantrums, both in school and at home, to gain the attention he craves. The other day, and it was his first hopeful sign since his parents appealed for aid months ago, he stood up to his brother rather than retreating to the lonely room he calls 'my house.'"

Six days after the 1962 Christmas appeal has been made in TOWN TOPICS, $1,127 was at hand. Although the fund opens as the holiday season approaches, its purpose is to provide year-round assistance to Princeton area children whose lives have not known a normal degree of health and happiness.

Checks should be made payable to the Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to Post Office Box 664, Princeton, N. J.

songs now belong to the University. Mrs. Florence S. Clark who lived at 44 Nassau Street before her death on November 15, made the bequest after having inherited it from her husband, Kenneth S. Clark.

The songs are "Going Back to Nassau Hall," "Princeton Forward March," "Princeton Justice March" and "Princeton, That's All." They were written shortly after the turn of the century, and Mrs. Clark declared in her will that she made the gift so that the University might control the copyrights and royalties forever.

Irwin W. Weiss, director of physical education at the Borough elementary schools and long active as an official in leading football and basketball games, will serve as umpire in the Liberty Bowl game Saturday in Philadelphia. . . the contest matching Villanova and Oregon State in Municipal Stadium will be televised on Channel 2.

Last week's fog was banished by a sudden temperature dip which went far enough down to bring snow and then thoughts of early outdoor skating. . . pre-dawn temperatures have been 10 to 12 degrees below freezing for the past week, and the long-range forecast for the winter is still colder and snowier than normal.

UNIVERSITY IS SUE
For Stadium Fall. A New York couple is suing Princeton University for $10,000 to recover damages allegedly suffered after the woman fell down concrete tiers in Palmer Stadium.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Ullman have charged the University with negligence and carelessness in failing to provide rails, posts and barriers to protect spectators from falls. They also allege that the University was negligent in failing to have guards or ushers at the ends of rows to warn patrons of possible dangers.

According to a complaint filed in U. S. District Court, Mrs. Ullman fell down concrete tiers in Section 22 during the Dartmouth-Princeton football game on November 24.

The complaint said she suffered fractures of the right wrist and nose and numerous cuts and bruises of the head and body. The complaint also said she suffered nervous shock and added that "permanent injuries have resulted."

Mrs. Ullman is suing for $200,000. Her husband is suing for an additional $50,000 for present and future medical expenses and to compensate him for the loss of the companionship of his wife.

A statement by the University said the complaint has been referred to Princeton's liability carrier, the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company of New York, for $100,000. The legal action will be carried on by the insurance firm's lawyers, the statement said.

TOPICS Of the Town

GOHEEN IS CONCERNED
Over Town-Gown Relations.
Dr. Robert F. Goheen, Princeton University president, expressed concern this week over what he called "a lack of understanding" between municipal and university officials.

Speaking at his monthly press conference in Nassau Hall, Dr. Goheen cited specifically the Borough planning board's recent refusal to grant the University a zoning variance for its proposed seven-story administration building to be located between the university tennis courts and the railroad station.

"The board objected to the height of the building," Dr. Goheen said, "but the McCarter Theatre and Dillon Gymnasium towers are higher." He added that the board's contention that the municipal pumping system could not provide water at a height of seven stories was "a bogus kind of issue."

Dr. Goheen said the municipality should consider drafting zoning ordinances to accommodate educational institutions. There are presently no areas in the Borough zoned for educational use. Thus, for many of its building projects the university has to seek modifications of ordinances designed to regulate residential construction.

"Communications Failure."
Dr. Goheen added, however, that the University was gratified by the planning board's request that Princeton re-submit its application for a zoning variance so that the matter could be discussed more fully. Dr. Goheen cited the controversy over Princeton's plan to close College Road after the erection of dormitories on the present Goldie Field as another example of the failure of communications between town and university.

"SANKT STAFFAN": Wearing her gold-slatted peak cap, Gun Svedberg, as "Sankt Staffan," is flanked by two Santa Clauses, Esmeralda Imbernon (left) and Ginger Dellenholdt. Traditionally, "Sankt" should be portrayed by a youth, but there are more Swedish girls in Princeton than there are Swedish boys. The "Sankt" is the boy who cares for the horses in the Christmas manger, and the two Santa Clauses are actually benign Christmas elves who guard a house and stable during the night.

He said the university had announced its plans in the matter some five years ago and had felt that these plans were understood and accepted by the municipality. The recent controversy, he said, led him to feel that somehow the university failed to make its intentions understood.

"We have tried hard to communicate with municipal officials as well as with the public at large," Dr. Goheen said, "but lack of understanding remains."

TO RECONSIDER
Inn and University Zoning. The Princeton Inn's plans for an addition, and the University's plans for a seven-story administration building were scheduled to be reconsidered this Wednesday at a special meeting of the Borough Planning Board.
Mayor Henry Patterson said Tuesday that a neighbor of the proposed Inn addition, whom he did not name, had told the Borough that he now had no objection to the new structure.
H. Alexander Smith, 81 Alexander Street, had told the Planning Board when the Inn proposals were first presented, that he wanted more time to study the Inn's plans.

Mayor Patterson said that he would ask the Planning Board to re-consider its decision on the University's proposed administration building on College Road and University Place.

"My biggest concern was would this seven-story building be a precedent? Mayor Patterson said. "On thinking it over, I have decided it would not. What I would be horrified to see would be Nassau Street turning into a canyon like Wall Street, with tall buildings on each side."

Mayor Patterson said he thought people should consider the motives of the University which are different, he said, from those of a commercial developer.

"A commercial outfit would want to build a taller building to provide more rentables," he said, "but the University wants to save money by build-den William H. Walker as essentially an absentee landlord" rating the ordinance will be administered by David T. Blake, Borough Health Officer.

Approval of the revised ruling was voiced by Robert E. Doherty, chairman of the real estate division of the Chamber of Commerce, by realtor Edmund D. Cook and by John F. McCarthy, spokesman for the Princeton Bar Association.

The particular thorn which had stuck in the realtors' sides had been the requirement that the Health Officer certify that a building comply with the regulations of the state code before it could be leased or granted to another party. This clause was removed.

Bikes & Trikes. The amended bicycle ordinance was passed, enabling the Borough PTA to implement its program to educate the youngsters. Essentially, the ordinance "takes the bike riders off the streets and puts them on the sidewalks."

SUBURBAN TRANSIT PLANS TRIPS TO SEE NEW YORK CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

Suburban Transit Corp. announced plans to run special bus trips to the fabulous Christmas light displays in New York City. These trips have been run out of New Brunswick for some years and have proved exceedingly popular.

Make the trip the comfortable way, they suggest. Go by Bus! Enjoy restful & luxurious travel... forget the worrisome chore of lighting traffic... and above all, forget your parking problems.

Everything that stands for Christmas is magnified a thousand times in New York, says Suburban. Millions and millions of twinkling lights sparkle like candles on a giant tree, carols ring out through the crisp air. Let us help you to see the magnificent 85 foot tree at Rockefeller Center... we'll show you animated store window displays that have been equipped with a magic wand... we'll drive you down Park Avenue's shimmering line of trees... we'll see the wonderful Forest of Lights at the Seagram Building Plaza... we'll see the floodlit statues at Central Park South... the magnificent decorations on Fifth Ave.

Suburban offers reserved seats at only $3.50.

Buses will leave the Cities Service Gas Station at the Princeton Shopping Center at 5:50 p.m. on December 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th. Return, at Princeton, approximately 11:20 p.m.

Suburban Transit mentioned that the minimum number of passengers per bus will be 30. They reserve the right to cancel any trip and will make full refunds if insufficient number of people purchase tickets.

Suburban invites you to call their Charter Dept. at CH 9-1100 for further information.

Ample time will be allowed for you to visit the Tree at Rockefeller Center, the Forest of Lights at Seagram's Bldg., and the animated displays at Macy's and Altman's windows. A coffee stop will be made enroute during the return trip to Princeton.

Fire Chief Elected

Samuel G. Davison of the Hook and Ladder Company has been elected Borough Fire Chief for the coming year. He succeeds Alfred Packer.

Robert F. Mooney, Borough administrator and a member of Mercer Engine Company No. 3, was re-elected first assistant chief, and Patrick F. McManimon, Princeton Engine Company No. 1, second assistant chief. James R. Hogarty and William Palmer were judges at the Fire Department election.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson said The main exception will be the sidewalk in front of the stores on Nassau and Witherspoon Streets.

John Street Safety. Two-way traffic was established on John Street between Avalon Place and Quarry Street. The purpose is to relieve traffic jams, the Witherspoon School area.

$80,000 Bond Issue. The Mayor and Council approved an ordinance covering improvements to the sanitary system. The sewers are operated jointly by the Borough, Township and Princeton University. An $80,000 bond issue will be placed, with the Borough serving as banker, and all parties participating equally.

Borough Engineer Arthur Brokaw said that the program includes reconstructing the pumping station, enlarging trunk lines at the station, replacement of obsolete equipment and increase the pumping capacity.

Princeton Inn. Council tabled until 2 p.m. on December 26 the zoning change requested by Princeton Inn. The Inn plans a two-story annex extending at a wide angle towards Alexander Street. Restricted by the land deeds to keep the building 55 feet back from the street, the building would swing across the corner of the neighboring Uvatt property, now owned by the Inn.

The required change in zoning of a portion of Uvatt property from residential was ruled a "legal extension of the business zone" by Borough Attorney Gordon Griffin, who told the Council "it would not constitute spot zoning."

Mayor Patterson informed the Council that both he and the Planning Board had received letters from former Senator H. Alexander Smith stating he had no objections to the change. Senator Smith, whose property is on the north side of the Uvatt lot, had requested time to review the matter.

Sunday afternoon, Michael Dunford, 21, of Hoboken, went into a skid crossing the Harrison Street bridge, lost control, and slammed into the guard rail. The bridge was wet and slippery at the time.

Mr. Dunford was slightly injured, suffering contusions of the face and abrasions of both ankles. His wife, Carol, age 20, was seriously injured. She received a mild concussion, an open fracture of the nose and severe lacerations about the face and knees.

TRIANGLE TIME AGAIN: "Ahead of the Game," the 71st annual production of the Princeton Triangle Club, will open this Thursday at McCart and run through the weekend. The dancel above answers offstage to the name of James McAffee.

News Of The THEATRES

MCCARTER IS HAPPY
 Attendance Up. "We are wonderfully encouraged by attendance figures for our fall drama season," said Milton Lyon, McCart producer, in a post-season roundup statement this week.

There were 50 percent more subscribers to the Mediterranean Heritage series than there were a year ago in the Shaw-Wilder season. Mr. Lyon said. The breakdown shows 785 subscribers to the four 1962 fall productions compared to 512 in 1961.

Last fall, there were 18 public performances in the four-play season, with a total attendance of 6,750. This year attendance rose to 11,500 for 17 performances. A Thursday evening performance at 7:30 curtain-time replaced last year's Sunday matinee.

Adding in the audiences that saw five showings of the pre-season musical "The Fantasticks," attendance reached 14,000.

There was a similar climb in the number of students who came to McCart for matinee performances from high schools in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. Last year, 6,400 students came to the ten matinees in the Shaw-Wilder package. This year more than 14,000 boys and girls came to the 19 matinees. "The vitality of a growing public is the best thing that could happen to the McCart project," Mr. Lyon said.

TRIANGLE OPENS
 "Ahead of the Game." Apparently Triangle fans who already have their tickets are "Ahead of the Game" because Friday and Saturday nights performances of the 71st annual Triangle Club show have already been sold out. The opening, this Thursday night, still has a few seats, and tickets are also available for the Saturday matinee. Theatergoers who would like to catch "Ahead of the Game" in Philadelphia may buy tickets for the December 21 performance there.

All tickets are on sale at the University Store, or at the McCart box-office.

COMEDY FOR CHRISTMAS
 "What You Will." When Shakespeare gave his comedy "Twelfth Night" the subtitle "What You Will," he may have been implying that he cared less about what his play was called than he did about what the play audiences might accept it. Written for the amusement of court audiences during the Christmas holiday season of 1601, "Twelfth Night" will be presented for the amusement of Princeton theatre-goers in McCart next Monday at 2:30 and next Wednesday at 2:30 and 8:30.

The comedy will be given by the Canadian Players, who will also present Shaw's "Arms and the Man" next Monday at 8:30.

The plot device of mistaken identity, so much good use in "Comedy of Errors," is employed again in "Twelfth Night," but with the added ingredient of genuine human emotion, which is lacking in the earlier work.

Scholars have pointed out that the element of cruelty in "Twelfth Night," as shown in the treatment meted out to Malvolio, Olivia's steward, is refined and carried to a higher level of drama in the more mature comedy, "The Merchant of Venice."

Marcel Marceau to Return
 Marcel Marceau, the French mime, will perform in McCart Theatre on Wednesday, December 20, at 8:30. He will present a new program, which was acclaimed by critics when seen for the first time in London. With only make-up and a simple mime costume, M. Marceau creates characters and situations that are by turns humorous, touching and memorable. Following his performance at McCart he will present the same program for a limited run at the City Center in New York.

Because of M. Marceau's popularity here in the past and because he will be available to Princeton audiences for one performance only, patrons are urged to order their tickets immediately. The McCart Theatre box office phone is WA 1-8700.

'MALE ANIMAL' A HIT
Show Repeats This Week-end. The entire cast of the Princeton Community Players performed with aplomb and gusto in Saturday's presentation of "The Male Animal" at Murray Theatre. Although it is difficult to single out any individuals from the generally brilliant group Julia Freeman and John Lithgow merit particular praise.

Mr. Lithgow's role of Michael Barnes, the campus liberal and intellectual in the James Thurber-Elliott Nugent comedy of mores and morals in a college setting, requires great exuberance and flamboy-

The Cast 15 Years Ago

McCartier, rather than Murray, was the stage 15 years ago (February 7 and 8, 1947, to be precise) for the post-war Players' production of "The Male Animal." Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Cook took the leading roles, under the direction of Alfred M. Wade.

Mr. Cook was also the technical director, and Russell W. Skillman the stage manager.

Other members of the cast were: Angela Stock, Marjorie Young, Seymour Feldman, Herbert McAneny, John K. Sinclair, William H. Snow, Nancy Knox, Irving Van Zandt, Jr., Virginia Taylor, Edward A. Myers and Saul Malkiel.

Since The Princeton High School student supplies both qualities in laugh-provoking abundance. He handles the playwright's skillful lines with expertise, playing the broad, farcical moments with high-handed vitality and a feeling his subtler lines with appropriate understatement.

It is Miss Freeman, however, around whom the main action of the comedy is structured, who carries off the play's most difficult part with a degree of ability that justifies her previous acting experience and belies her tender age. Also a student at Princeton High, she establishes immediately and maintains throughout the illusion that she is a mature woman married ten years.

To the role of Ellen Turner, the wife of a college professor whose career is in jeopardy because of his innocent desire to read a literary work of a controversial figure, she performs with knowing poise. Her facial expressions, voice inflections and stage movements are always meaningful, without ever approaching pretentiousness or becoming forced.

Virginia Mastowski, as the disdainful maid, Cleota; Leo Cohen, in the role of Joe Ferguson, Miss Freeman's football-mad former beau; and Garrison Ellis, as the tyrannical university trustee Ed Keller, all supply fine support. Miss Mastowski's flexible facial expressions are particularly noteworthy.

Filling out the cast satisfactorily are Thomas Richardson, the beleaguered Professor Tommy Turner; Susan Lerner, who plays Fatsa Stanley; Miss Freeman's sister and the comedy's secondary love interest, Bruce Raymond, in the role of football star Wally Myers; Anton Schmidt, as the ap-

IT'S NEW To Us

PASS THE TINSEL.
Add the Holly "Instant Christmas." How e Nurseries calls it—"just add people." The Pennington nursery is ready to start you off with Douglas fir, Norway spruce, balsam and Scotch pine, either cut or live. Sprays of American holly, poinsettias, Christmas peppercorns and Jerusalem cherries are poised for delivery, along with most unusual Christmas wreaths.

John Obal's Garden Market on Alexander Street has full-berried holly trees, live, of course, from $8 to $45, and the usual live spruce, Douglas fir, white pine and hemlock for planting later. Have you dug a hole for these live trees? See if you can find a spot that isn't frozen.

Nassau Garden Market on Route 206 is another source of Christmas greenery.

Allen's Flower Shop likes the natural touch at Christmas, and carries out this feeling in the wreaths made by Mr. Allen. Berried juniper, desert cypress, blue-spruce tips, balsam twigs, babyberry and red winter berries all go into an Allen Christmas arrangement, sometimes done in a bowl. Traditional door swags are popular in this shop, too. But if you like the fanciful, Allen's can show you a hanging wicker ball filled with lavender-blue artificial flowers to the Spirit

One of the happiest gifts you could give this Christmas would be a piece of hand-painted china from the Province Line Road studio of Rene Updike.
If you go to Money Tree, on Alexander Street, you will see Miss Updike's saucy lady-bug ashtray, and the delicate dentistry with small, cheerful bird painted on the side of a cup or tray.
You would like a pin-tray or a perfume bottle. Perhaps you have the favorite motif you would like to have painted on a cup or tray. Whatever it is, the artist will do it for you in her fine, carefully detailed brushwork.

Miss Updike, skilled successful artisan, is a victim of polo, confined by the effects of the disease to the wheelchair and her studio. She has the use of only one hand.

Look at the three-tiered standing basket to adorn a hallway.

GIVE ME ENOUGH ROPE
To Deck the Halls, Gene Seal, in Princeton, has ropes and ropes of greenery, wreaths and berries. Applegate, on Palmer Square, shows wreaths of blue spruce and some fascinating little velvet trees whose boughs are tipped with red or silver balls. Arrangements, at Applegate, may be built around a white brandy snifter with red holly berries, or a frosted hurricane lamp with a red candle glowing inside.

On down Palmer Square at The Flower Coop, where the artificial is real, you'll find a real collection of nuts and pine-cones made into some of the most original pieces of the season. There is an S-shape for five candles, a small half-dome for one candle, a big wreath and a mantle piece, all in shades of brown: brown pine-cones, brown nuts and fascinating little petaled objects that are really cross-sections of pine-cones.

Pine and spruce wreaths large and full, are enlivened by small fruits. $30. A music box that plays "Jingle Bells" has a pyramidal lemon tree growing out of the base notes, but you may prefer the holly tree. Its musical, too.

Artificial red poinsettias are here for anybody who wants to do her own arrangements and, of course, open stock on any flower or green you can think of.

HANGING VELVET
Red, Pink Gold. Now, on the ornament side this year, we find small velvet cousins of the kissing ball (see our "post office" box elsewhere in this issue). Queenstown Craft has them in lavishly decorated satin, or pink velvet with gold and pearls. Lavender Shoppe has them in velvet and ribbon, ornate as a Victorian parlor.

Other fancies at Lavender include a spreading candle apron of gold-spangled ferns interlaced with white and gold ribbon, a white champagne glass with red roses and holly and a nine-inch candelabra with six white candles, the whole treated to miniature poinsettias.

At The Cummins Shop, where swags of tinsel greet you the moment you open the door, we found those tiny Italian lights that look like candles on a birthday cake and glittering white or soft green "trees" to put on your table or stand on the floor. Tinsel ropes in silver, gold, green and white—sometimes combined—are available in thick or thicker dimensions. White china-ware decorated with trees or holly is on view. You'll find a demitasse, a hearty punch bowl, plates. Include on your table a centerpiece of pine and poinsettia in a dish with four candles, or a stainless steel candelabra with nine tapers.

Tree-trimming at Princeton Decorating starts with French gold lace circles, fans and stars, $1.25 to $2.25 each. Make an arrangement with plastic fruits that have velvet leaves, apples, pears, peaches, plums and even limes for 75 cents each).

If you haven't gotten around yet to a special Christmas stocking, consider these two: Princeton Decorating's hand-knits combining red, green and white, personalized with a name, or Quectown's Della Robbia in white felt with red felt apples, purple grapes, green leaves and red holly with sequins and gold stick-rack, $10.

Color & Tin. A modern house would certainly react to Kung Ping's Japanese colored glass balls slung in cotton netting, and the abstract wicker fish to hang singly or as a mobile. Princeton Gourmets' mobile is a Danish fish catch consisting of colored glass fish on a silver wire for $3.85.

Stuffed cotton birds from Scandinavian lands make impressive tree decorations. Viking has them in sizes from three to 10 inches, tightly stuffed and embroidered with classic stitches in strong primary colors. There are roosters, ducks, chicks.

The direction was handled by Edward Earle, whose skill is manifest throughout. A last plaudit must go to set designer Donald C. Warnock Jr. for his fine use of the theatre's limited stage.

For those who were unable to attend the presentation, the comedy will be performed again this week. It will be given at 8:30 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

SANTA CLAUS FILM SET

At Prince Theatre, The award-winning motion picture "Santa Claus" will be shown at Prince Theatre matinees this weekend. The color film won the Golden Gate Award for the Best Family Film at the San Francisco International Film Festival.

In the picture, there are no elves and peppermint sticks. Instead, there are representative children from all the nations of the world. Their job is to help make toys. Santa has his reindeer, of course, but the Russian children want him to replace the reindeer with Sputniks.

Instead of a log cabin at the North Pole, Santa operates from an observatory. He owns a cosmic telescope, a master eye and a dreamscape. There is a red devil who tempts the children to naughtiness and Merlin, the magician, who provides Santa with weapons against this demon. The scenes in Santa's mammoth toy factory are breath-taking.

The film will be shown at 3:30 p.m. Friday; 1:30 on Saturday, and at 2 Sunday.

THE PRINCE

The War Lover opens Friday. War and its corrosive effect upon young men is brought into sharp focus in this film based on the John Hersey novel.

The excellent cast is headed by Steve McQueen, Robert Wagner and Shirley Anne Field. There is much dramatic suspense as the fliers go on a succession of missions over Germany in a flying Fortress known as "The Body".

The story involves a pretty British girl, Miss Field, who falls in love with Wagner, the co-pilot of "The Body." He considers it just a wartime romance, while she counts it a great deal more seriously. McQueen, the tough, hard-bitten squadron commander, makes a play for her and she is attracted to his strength and magnetism despite her role. The flying and air battle scenes are tremendously suspenseful. Comment: war 'n' women.

PLAYHOUSE

It A Man Answers (now playing). A marital comedy of young newlyweds, played with verve by Sandra Dee and her husband, Bobby Darin. The story is lightweight and amusing.

Miss Dee, who has many suitors, meets and marries Darin, with the expert advice of her Parisian mother. Then, when Stefanie Powers attracts Darin too much, Miss Dee gets more advice from mother—to treat him like a dog. So it goes. She wears a lot of glamorous costumes, 32 different gowns, in fact and so does mother, played by Michelle Presle. Comment: that's Hollywood.

THE GARDEN

A Matter of WHO (now playing). This turns out to be a happy combination of mystery, suspense, action and comedy. It revolves around a struggle for an oil area in the Middle East and involves an agent for the World Health Organization (this explains the W-H-O).

Terry-Thomas, Britain's zesty comedian, is in the role of the man from WHO, and his efforts to trace a suspected disease carrier hit a merry pace. At one point he drives an open, two-seated Austin of ancient vintage literally beneath the body of a fast-moving trailer truck. Comment: a romp.

Sidewalks May be Answer.

To the Editor of Town Topics: An alternative solution to the "Snowden Lane impasse" that you described last week would be to put in sidewalks. There ought to be sidewalks on Rollingmead between Snowden Lane and the Littlebrook School where quite a few little children walk every day.

I, for one, would like to see sidewalks in all of the built-up sections between N. Harrison Street and Herontown Road, including the street I live on. When the medical profession recommends walking as one of the most healthy exercises, it doesn't have Princeton Township in mind.

Lawn's Repeal Advocated.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The Borough Council should repeal the present law concerning the necessity of government permission for passing out pamphlets. It would be an honorable thing for the Council to admit a mistake.

However, so far it has failed to see as far as in its action, and merely asks what all the fuss is about. Because some people reached it in the back of the pamphlets, they feel we should forget about it.

The fuss is about the abrogation of rights basic to American life. The smallest of art issue does not change the importance of the principle being violated! I disagree with the cloud of the particular groups involved on the Cuban crisis. However, if their rights can be limited, so might mine be limited some day — and this I find objectionable! What is to prevent some administration (future or present) from limiting people's rights because of disagreement with the contents of the printed material? It is under just such emotionally tense situations as the Cuban crisis that it may appear permissible to limit the freedom of people. We must guard against the possibility of this happening in Princeton.

poodle belonging to the Mrs. Snows was killed in the crash.

MOUNT IS ELECTED
By Township Zoning Group. Township Committeeman John S. Mount has been elected president of the vigilante group known as the Township Committee on Zoning Enforcement.

Also elected at the meeting Sunday in Township Hall were: Eric Enderbury and Jack Wallace, vice-presidents; Stuart Minton, secretary; Walter Craig, treasurer; and Raymond

A. Bowers, Alex J. Eto, Mrs. Josephine Mathey, Joseph E. Bachelder, Mrs. Albert Westfeld, Carl Martinson, Norman O. Hood and Harry J. Volwelder, trustees.

Gordon D. Griffin, Borough and Township attorney, and Gerald Bresce, Planning Board chairman, stressed the need for active interest in municipal affairs.

"One point that I have been harping on for a long time," Mr. Griffin, said, "is that the Evidence of a clear and present danger of riot has not been presented satisfactorily. In any case, under such a law anyone could take away the rights of a group by merely throwing a tomato or starting a little riot.

Then the government would have to curtail their rights under this law. Why must we have government based on fear of riot?

It is the job of government to protect people's rights, not to limit them out of fear! The Declaration of Independence states "that to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men." If this be the job of government, then the Borough Council has not done its job well.

Regardless of the supposedly "insignificant" nature of this matter, the people of Princeton must do their utmost to make the Council feel the importance of our rights and the need to get in line with the Bill of Rights and repeal this law!

The day before, Harry Alonso, 17, 270 State Road, was issued a summons for careless driving. Police said that Mr. Alonso, driving on N. Harrison Street, swerved to the right and struck a parked car belonging to State Police.

The impact of the collision drove the parked car forward 28 feet into a Public Service pole. After hitting the car, Mr. Alonso's car continued on approximately 300 feet more and came to rest on the opposite curb. The entire front of his car was damaged.

Oncoming traffic had forced him to right, Mr. Alonso reported. A passenger in his car, David Ott, 16, 99 Braeburn Drive, sustained a broken nose. Mr. Alonso cut his knee and sprained his right hand.

Late Friday afternoon, cars operated by Edmund H. Marrow, 32, 204 John Street, and Juan Santiago, 38, Princeton Nurseries, Kingston, crashed head-on on Princeton-Kingston Road near Gulluk Road.

Police report that Mr. Santiago, driving west, crossed over the lane and struck Mr. Marrow's car. Mr. Santiago was charged with careless driving and failure to report an accident. He was released on $75 bail by Township Magistrate James S. Hill.

An occupant in each car was seriously injured. Marchial Martinez, 36, owner of one car, received lacerations and abrasions. He did not regain consciousness in Princeton Hospital until the following day. At first, police had thought Martinez to be the driver.

Also injured was Ruth Marrow, 51, wife of Mr. Marrow. She received multiple lacerations of the face and forehead and was admitted to Princeton Hospital. A miniature French

Board of Zoning Adjustment sits, in fact, as a court. There should be provision made for the municipality, its governing body, to be also represented at the proceedings. No such provision is in the law.

Ten Days Notice. He also stated that the individual appearing before the Zoning Board with a building or subdivision plan has a great advantage of time. "The applicant can study the situation for six months or more, and he appears before the Zoning Board with his attorney and a court stenographer. Actually he's looking ahead to make a case in court. Residents within 200 feet of the area of his plans have 10 days, which isn't enough to make an effective opposition."

Schedule Announced. "I hope to complete these studies to prepare some policy statements for public discussion, to create a flood-plain ordinance and to improve the zoning ordinance. Then we'll have to start all over again, as things never stand still."

He told the group that they have "a wide range of responsibility. The individual is at a great disadvantage in the modern community, because, as Gordon says, the person who wants to do something has had years to prepare."

WHITE SANTA SOON

Special Box Installed. Once again, a special mail box has been installed on Palmer Square so that boys and girls of Princeton may receive answers to their letters directly from Santa Claus. Letters for this special box should be deposited not later than next Wednesday.

No postage stamp is necessary, although it is requested that names and addresses be clear and legible. Palmer Square, Inc., has arranged to turn the letters directly over to Santa Claus.

Abram N. Spanel

SPANEL IS HONORED
By French Government. Abram N. Spanel, 344 Stockton Street, founder and chairman of International Latex Corporation, received one of France's highest honors Tuesday when he was raised in Grand Officer of the National Order of the Legion of Honor. The decree signifying the honor, signed by General Charles de Gaulle, recognizes Mr. Spanel's long dedication to Franco-American solidarity. Mr. Spanel received the Decoration of Grand Officer from General Georges Catroux, Grand Chancellor of the French Legion of Honor, at the Palais de la Chancellerie.

Born in Russia in 1901, Mr. Spanel lived in Paris for four and a half years as a child, after his family fled from Russia. In addition to the award received this week, Mr. Spanel holds 10 other high French honors and is an honorary citizen of seven French cities. Before his elevation to Grand Officer, he was a commander of the Legion of Honor of France.

Mr. Spanel's articles on behalf of free-world unity and a strong France, so back in 1939, when he wrote "The World Aflame," in subsequent years, he has written many editorial advertisements on various aspects of international affairs.

BLAZE KILLS TWINS

Farm Fire in Dutch Neck. A three-year-old boy and his twin sister died Monday in a fire that destroyed a farm cottage near Dutch Neck.

Marshall and Margie Moses were trapped in the house, State Police said, and it was completely destroyed before firemen arrived. According to the police, the father of the children, Clifford, was working next door and did not become aware of the blaze until he heard the fire sirens.

Located on the Charles Mullins farm on the Dutch Neck-Hightstown Road, the frame dwelling was destroyed quickly, the fire being aided by a strong wind blowing across the flat country. The origin of the fire has not been determined, according to police, but it was apparently started inside the building.

The twins' oldest sister, Kathy, 6, escaped through a back door before the house went up in flames. The children's mother was working on another nearby farm. Firemen from the Plainsboro, Dutch Neck, Princeton Junction and West Windsor stations responded to the alarm.

BIRTH LIST

Mixed Pair. Twins, a boy and a girl, were born December 3 to Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Vitkus of Lakeside Apartments. In all, 23 children were born last week at Princeton Hospital; 15 were boys.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Petroselli, 95 Cayser Road, December 2; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce L. Gibb, 222-B Harrison Street; Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Fleming, Scott Avenue, Princeton Junction, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Griggs, 56 Bayard Lane, all on December 3; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Grover, 37 W. Broad Street, Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. ### CRASH KILLS STUDENT

Going Home From Class. A 19-year-old Trenton State College student was killed when his motor scooter and a car driven by Maxim Zinder, 105 Fieldsboro Road, Lawrence Township, collided Friday on Lawrenceville Road at Darrah Lane. William B. Reynolds of West Orange was pronounced dead on arrival at Helene Fuld Hospital 20 minutes after the accident, which occurred at 4:04 a.m. Mr. Zinder, a retired Princeton storekeeper, said the scooter and his car collided head on.

Mr. Zinder told Lawrence Township police he was turning left from Lawrenceville Road into Darrah Lane and that Reynolds was driving north on Lawrenceville Road on his scooter when the accident happened.

Mr. Reynolds was believed to have been driving home after an 8 a.m. class, the only class on his schedule for that day. He was a graduate of West Orange High School. A sophomore, he was majoring in mathematics and lived in Bliss Hall on the Hillwood Lakes campus.

Mr. Zinder was taken to Lawrence Township police headquarters and booked on a mandatory charge of death by auto. He was arraigned on the same charge Monday and is awaiting grand jury action.

would be an added hazard to traffic safety.

The petitioners are protesting the plans of Leonard LaPlaca, who is under contract to purchase the 50-room, four-story building for $37,500 from Princeton University. Mr. LaPlaca told the Zoning Board that he would not rent to more than four persons with cars, unless he could find nearby, off-street parking for them.

He asked the Board for relief from the zoning law which would require eight off-street parking spaces, 23 garages, as well as front and side yards. He also requested a variance from the required ratio between building and the ground space.

The building has no other practical use, Mr. LaPlaca stated. Built in 1917 as a rooming house for the University's bachelor employees, it has depreciated nearly 100 percent in recent years. He said that the building could not be made to pay as a rooming house, and that other businesses are not interested in buying it.

He added that there would not be more than 31 occupants and rentals would range between $80 and $100 a month. The Zoning Board deferred decision, which will be made during an executive session this month.

SUPPORT FOR SANTA

Comes From Merchants
Thirty-two area merchants have made contributions in the annual drive of The Woman's Club of Princeton to provide for the needs of Henry Schultz, who serves as a telephone Santa Claus every Christmas.

Mr. Schultz, 77 years old and blind for the past 12 years, takes an average of 1,200 calls from children during the Christmas season. The phone number at his apartment is WA 4-3883. He will be answering calls afternoons between 1 and 5 and evenings between 7 and 9 until December 24.

The Woman's Club has announced contributions from the following area businesses: Helen Van Cleave Real Estate, Edmund Cook and Co., R. F. Johnson, Wilcox Pharmacy, Bellos, University Cleaners, Marsh & Co., J. B. Redding, Harry Ballou, Langrock, Walcott Shop, Nassau Motor Co., Princeton Book Binding.

Also: Artistic Photo, French Shop, Wine and Game Shop, Skirm's Smoke Shop, Louise Marx, Edith's Lingerie, Lavake-Reid, Schuster Antiques, Varsity Liquor, Kase Cleaners, Mary Gill, Dolores Hair Stylist, Hay & Clover, Male's Book Shop, Stone's Linen Shop, Sak's Fifth Avenue, English Shop, Anthony's House of Coutures and Princeton Recreation Center, Inc.

Person To Person

The other day, we were reminded of two very well-known proverbs — "He who hesitates is lost" and "Look before you leap."

Remember them? Funny thing about them is that they contradict each other! After all, if you are going to look, you have to hesitate, and if you don't look, it could be a pretty disastrous leap. And if you hesitate, there you are lost again. Well, it's all pretty confusing, and perhaps the answer is that man cannot live by proverbs alone. It takes a lot of common sense, judgment, and experience to know how much of which proverb to apply to what situation. We find this to be true in our business too. Each problem that we deal with is different, and we must use our common sense, judgment, and experience to decide which is the best way to serve you—to solve your particular need. We believe in individualized service, and we'd like to serve you. Won't you let us try? Kammerl Buck-Ponting Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

DANCE CLASS LET

By Juillard Instructor. A master class in modern dance will be presented at the Apartment School of Dance, 516 June Dunbar, an instructor at the Juillard School of Music. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coan formerly of Princeton, Mrs. Dunbar was educated in the community schools and studied under Milla Gibbons in her junior high and high school years. A graduate of Vassar College, she has traveled extensively in the United States, giving master classes.

The Juillard School which plans to move to the Lincoln Center and the Performing Arts in New York City is a national center for both ballet and modern dance. Information concerning the Friday class may be obtained by calling Miss Gibbons at WA 4-0222.

SKETCHES TO BE SEEN

At Woman's Club Meeting. The Woman's Club of Princeton will see a presentation of "Belts of Laughter," a program of original sketches, at its Christmas meeting. The event will be held Thursday, December 20, at 1:30 at the Shrine Club.

Written and dramatized by Mildred Farrell, the selection will be followed by a presentation of Christmas music sung by the club's choral group. Mrs. Paul W. Moore will lead the performance and will be accompanied by Mrs. Edmund LaPort.

SCHOOL MEETING SET

By St. Paul's P.T.A. The St. Paul's P.T.A. will meet next Tuesday from 7 to 8. Parents and teachers will assemble in their respective classrooms.

The organization has not scheduled a business meeting. Plans are under way for the children's Christmas party which will be held the same day under the direction of Mrs. William Zimmerman.

ART SALE SET

Professional Works Shown. The annual Christmas sale of professional art will open Sunday at Princeton's Studio-On-the-Canal. The display will be open from 2 to 4 and refreshments will be served by the Wednesday Bridge Club.

Artists represented include: Hussein Haidi, Kempton H. Hastings, Peter Cook, James Edwards, Hughie Lee-Smith, Mical Maher, Bev Zurner, Florence Johnson, Margaret S. Johnson and Rex Goreleigh. The sale, which consists of objects ranging from miniature paintings to hand-made jewelry, will last through Saturday, December 22.

"Under the Double Eagle"

Or, "The Stars and Stripes Forever." What's gotten into people, anyway? There are more eagles around this Christmas than any year since 1776. (Conservationists, take a note).

A tremendous brass eagle with a wingspread 7 1/2 inches wide forms the base of a lamp at The Lennox Shop, 4440 W. 14th Ave. The eagles make small brass lamp bases for Country Mouse patrons.

Bowden's, the fireplace shop in Trenton, has many eagle andirons, including a pair with brass eagles perched on a large black iron cannonball. Here, too, you can buy a big brass eagle plaque to go over the doorway, a round 18-inch mirror with a golden eagle on top of the mirror's wood frame and wall sconces with an eagle plaque behind the candles.

Furniture Barn uses an eagle and drum shade over a lamp base consisting of six old copper candle molds.

Country Mouse is intoxicated with Mexican tin this year and offers a pageant of candlesticks, candelabras and festive trees. This year looks rather like pewter, and is wrought with considerable Latin exuberance. A three-step alighting candelabra is particularly nice, but the most fascinating piece is a seven-branched tree with rows of bangle needles that jingle when you run a finger across them.

The traditional pineapple of hospitality appears in tin coated with "gold," life size, with pointed silver and green leaves and a place at the top for a Country Mouse candle.

Is it the biggest candelabra in town? We haven't seen a bigger one. It's Country Mouse's Colonial model about 30 inches tall, 12 inches across the saucer base with a 16-inch candle.

CHRISTMAS ALL OVER
Kitchen Bath, Stone's Linen Shop sets the holiday table with a white linen cloth divided by red ribbon stripes and trimmed with poinsettias. The hostess will wear Vera's white linen apron with its olive sash and red poinsettia design, a truly dignified apron, in contrast to so many one sees at Christmas.

"Her" and "Hers" aprons are red and white stripe, with green ball-fringe trim around a "Merry Christmas" pocket.

Farkouh's, in the Shopping Center, has a round white cloth, fringed, with a Santa-sleigh band in red. This shop

At Manning's, there is a big eagle allied with a book and a brooch to form an unusual lamp base and at Princeton Decorating, there is a plaque with a black eagle on a foot high on a black pedestal and supporting the lamp that rises above his head.

Queenstown Craft is showing a hand-hooked rug in brown with black trim, four gold corner stars and a dark brown eagle in the middle, and a black lacquered tray with a wide-winged golden eagle in the center.

Manning's has a Boston rocker upholstered with an eagle print. The Lennox Shop offers, besides the giant we mentioned above, a pair of antiqued gold eagle book-ends, a crystal ashtray with an eagle engraved in its center, the "Alliance Eagle" hand-painted in wood in antiqued colors and, most interesting of all, a reproduction of an eagle, roughly sculptured by a Pennsylvania Dutch folk artist.

has solid red or green cloths, for those who look beyond Christmas, and these—cloths, not people—include a red vinyl coated one that is impervious to egg-nog. Linen or cotton Christmas cloths at Farkouh start at $2.25 and range to $12.50, and for the children there are Christmas place-mats in plastic with S. C. and sleigh. And speaking of the youngest, Home Decor has a snowman terry bath mitt to make it easy to come clean. For holiday entertaining, there is a white terry guest towel with appliqued white satin tree.

PLUG. On the electrical side, the University Store has sets of red or white starlights, $4.50, and 20 per cent crystal lights for the same price. Tiger Auto blinks away with the two-way wink-a-lights, 15 red lantern lights and "fly-lights" that are like candles.

The color wheel comes full circle this year at Tiger and at R. F. Johnson on Tulane Street. Buy a floor spot-light and attach to it a plastic wheel divided, pie-like, into four colors. Wheel revolves, casting different shades of color on your tree. It's $8.95 at Johnson.

The Tulane Street establishment also has a full-size poinsettia plant whose centers are little red lights, and a table-size tree with on-off blinkers ($20.33). Lighted carolers and a lighted Santa for your front lawn are to Johnson's window at the moment, rehearsing.

You may have thought the house was all ready, but have you picked up your flower arrangements from 18th Century Bouquet's Williamsburg collection?

IN AND OUT

Or, House & Garden. We're going to start our house-giving with a piece of garden sculpture from Hewe's Nursery, Pennington. Bird baths shaped like open leaves are held aloft by small figures, and there are small birds available ($6.50 each) to attach to the rim for decoys.

A formal stone fruit-basket in the Italian manner is $21, and an informal cast iron-and-lead rabbit in the Cottontail manner is $36.70. (He's three feet tall, which ought to keep real rabbits scared and running.)

On the fountain side, there is a standing Cow, $154.25 and a Piping Boy ($147.50). In addition, there are sundials, pedestals for sculpture, and the like, all lead and cast iron except for the stone baskets.

Can't remember a year when we've seen so many clocks. Viking imbeds one in the walnut base of a table lamp and leaves off the numbers so your guests won't be embarrassed. (Clock really works, too: we saw it.)

Schwartz Furniture, in New Brunswick, has a grandmother's clock by Colonial, 70 inches high (grandma was some gal) in cherry with a fruitwood finish and a brown-gold Roman dial.

The whing-dinger, if you know somebody who has the house for it, is Money Tree's 1810 French pendulum clock with a ten-inch wide gilded brass sun on the end of a three-foot pendulum. Hang it on the wall, and stand well back.

Its colleague at Money Tree is a painted wood clock from Spain, also pendulum, decorated with flowers and a pleasant little scene. Both clocks are guaranteed. Moderns will set the enameled face counter-sunk into a walnut panel and decorated with enamel discs that show clock-works.

Atmos ($125) is the clock that runs on atmospheric pressure, and is doing so at the moment at LaVake's. We are hopelessly fond of a one-inch alarm watch in gold with a sassy little alarm and a tidy case to snuggle it in, $65.

LaVake's also suggests that you combine 8-day, 15-jewel clock, barometer and humidifier into a single $125 banjo.

Ten for Under Five

A house gift for under five dollars assumes considerable importance if you have a lot of houses to give to. Here are ten presents in the under-five category to soothe the relentless budget.

Teak tray, Kung Ping has laminated teak trays, ranging from $1.25 for an individual one, up to $5 for a smooth disc of wood. Some are oblong, some are conventional tray shapes.

Pressing-iron bookends. Made like miniature irons from a bygone era, these five-inch bookends are heavy and good-looking $3 at Eighteenth Century Boutique.

Ceramic ashtrays. A dark brown exterior, striped to look like wood, encloses the bright interior glaze of these fish-shaped ashtrays at Nassau Interiors. Many sizes, $2.95 to $5.

Clip-on light. Spouses who read in bed may use a clip-on light so that other spouses can sleep. $1.99.

It's New To Us

combination. Other banjo banometers from $37.50. Some banometers will have the $121 ship's clock that strikes its bells. Avail! A vast must!

For the plug-in set, Tiger has a special on GE wall and table clocks. R. F. Johnson has a one-of-a-kind table with all kinds of things on it: electric clocks, percolators, a hot-dog roaster—with some tremendous bargains in these discontinued items.

Switch. Let's light the lamp and stay in the living-room for a minute. The Lennox Shop has a lamp whose base is a cigar-store Indian, papoose size, and another, a real beauty, that is a ship's bulkhead lantern. $150.

Elmwood's antiques are more on the formal side, starting with a lamp whose base has six unequal sides and a jade green Chinese motif below a white silk flaring drum shade. $145. A Bavarian lamp, smaller and more intimate, is deep royal blue sparkled with gold leaves.

Viking has an imposing cylinder lamp 43 inches high with linen-like sides broken by

$2.95 at the University

Dressy matches. Loong or short matches have been packaged in superbly executed boxes, like the deeply broze green with a moon-parade of horses. From $1.50 at The Cummins Shop.

Map place-mats. Geodetic survey maps of Cape Cod, Nantucket Island, Chesapeake Bay, Florida, are 75 cents each at Princeton Gourmet.

Indian crewel-work rug is a one-of-a-kind gift (no two alike) at Farkash. From $2.95.

Calendar towel. A bluebird of happiness hovers over each month on Clayton's linen calendar towel for 1963. $1.

Floor pillows. 22-inch-square giants to sit in front of fire or TV, from $4.95 at Home Decor.

Butter molds. Stubby little wooden butter molds, 50 cents each, just like grandma's. At Country House.

A rooster base starts things off for a burlap lamp at The Silver Shop. But you can also find here a pair of white alabaster lamps with delicate ivory shades.

Country Mouse caters to the country square with a simple black lantern lamp and a white shade, and a delightful little pewter candlestick lamp.

Lightoller goes out of Nassau interiors as fast as you can turn the switch. It's a student's desk lamp, this year, guaranteed to produce all the floor and desk lamps that people, too, and so are the brass modern floor lamps. One walnut shaft lamp with basket-weave shade is $10.95.

Old pine, teak, brass are on the candlestick shelf at Nassau Interiors: you modern? Now, I'm Federal.

Tote is a favorite at the Rug Mart, too. We saw a chipper little aqua red table lamp that also comes in black or ivory. A pair of modern table lamps at Rug Mart are designed like big brass springs set on square marble bases. Swedish brass combines with walnut for a pair of modern Stiffel table lamps.

Stiffel is friends with Toy Manor and Schwartz too, and in all Stiffel stores you will find the characteristic antiqued brass that marks this dignified line. Take, for example, Rug Mart's Italia lamp with its frieze of cherubs around the base of a grey-black column. Schwartz likes the Stiffel lamp-table—two-for-one country.

Early American or modern? R. F. Johnson says it's up to you. The store has an Early American lamp with documentary print above its red lantern base, and brass-walnut floor lamps or pole lamps with bullet shades. A small ship's-wheel lamp at $17.75 would be fine for a boy's room or a den.

Useful Miscellany. Upon reflection... Granzel, in Somerville, has a full-length, standing mirror ($79.50) which will never tarnish because it is anodized aluminum. Can you say as much? Milholland and Olsen prefer the Regency style of a pair of 24 by 40 mirrors with black and gold panel at the top.

Elmwood likes Regency mirrors, too, and suggests an oblong one with fine old glass for $85.

From a Swedish narcissus, Viking has acquired a 12-inch round mirror with deep, floored frame in white, black, turquoise or gold.

A CORNER TO DRESS

With Table, Desk. Now, about that corner... every house has an awkward wall space that cries a desk, table, or occasional chair. Why not try something for size at Christmas-time?

A cheek desk from Manning's is a corner desk with four small slots for checks. It has only three legs, which may be significant, and it is made of sugarmaple. $89.50.

Still in the corner, we find Queenstown Craft's corner cupboard which can be used separately as a corner table, a hanging corner cupboard, or both together. It's six feet high, pine.

Furniture Barn has those little chests that are so handy for keeping things you ought to throw away. They are 14 by 24 inches, three-drawer, in walnut with handles. $37.50.

Lennox Shop offers an end-table in pine with a bin for magazines and three tiny drawers above the one long one.

Apothecaries, having contributed their jars, are now about to sacrifice their chests. $8—Continued on Page 25

Interiors has a 28-inch space brown one that seems to have 10 small drawers but actually has three long ones, and a smaller chest, this one in black, with white porcelain knobs.

Ivy Manor's draughtst had nine square drawers, each white-knobbed. He also had a pine bookcase with a formula-lined planter sunk into the top, and a combination magazine rack-bookshelf.

A la Carl. No draughtst at Viking. There is, however, a hostess with a teak cart, two cabinets to produce two trays and an overall width of 29 inches. A delightful little planter at Viking is only 23 inches long. It's a walnut trough to stand in a sunny corner. In the same size space you might put something quite different. Nassau Interiors dictionary stand in cherry,
with a shelf and compartment
under the slanted top. $39.

Schwartz likes to choose those incidental Hitchcock pieces, like the settee, the busy two-drawer work table and the piece that can either be a desk or vanity, with rash-seated bench. These pieces can be black, antiqued maple or cherry, hemlock green or barn
red, and all of them have the characteristic Hitchcock designs.

If you're going to buy a desk, look at the massively magnificent Spanish chest at Rug Mart, made in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. The piece looks like a chest on legs, but opens up to reveal an 18-inch deep desk, with pigeonholes and shelves. The carving is traditional and ornate, the finish beautifully smooth. You sit in a square, spindle-backed chair with a leather seat and stroke
your grandee hand.

Nope. Someone younger and more frisky could use Elm-

"We Cater to the Kissing Trade"

Wash means just about everything. The phrase comes from Don Allen of Allen's Flowers, Hopewell, where kissing balls are much in evidence; in fact, 1962 may go down in some kind of history as the year of the Kissing Ball. We have never seen so many. Tried out one or two, too.

Allen's are natural, with holly, mistletoe, and various greens. (You don't know what a kissing ball is. It's a sphere of any size, decorated like a Christmas tree, and destined to be hung in a doorway, like mistletoe.)

Probably the most spectacular ones are at The Laverend Shoppe, across from Cox's Delicatessen, where you will find 10-inch giant $50.95 splendidly decked with—well, one has thousands of royal blue mirrors and sequins. Another is all lavender color as the mahogany $145.

Teak chests with brass faceniages are sweetly looking on the top shelf at Kung Ping (from $125). Cedar chests in walnut, maple, mahogany or bone white, are open and inviting at Ivy Manor by Lane.
$49.95 to $80.95.

The Spanish influence again
in Money Tree's carved chest of eight drawers from Spain.
It could make beautiful music with that desk. The piece is Spanish screen, four panel, at Money Tree, too, made of carved spindles.

Why not make an end-table?
The Building Center has made up a fascinating kit consisting of a real map of the world, 24 inches by 36, laminated and nickeled, and the fixings to make a table the size of the world, 24 inches by 36. Whole kit 'n kiboodle is $19.95.

Little brother is a coffee
table kit, also from The Building Center, to make a 20 by 40 inch table for only $8.95.
You can also buy a ping-pong
table and base for $19.95 to assemble yourself.

For Cup or Glass, Nests of tables popular for holiday giving and entertaining, begin with Rug Mart's mica-topped nest of three modern tables, $29.95, and continue on to Nassau Interiors' four folding end-tables with mica top, for $10.95 with carrying rack. Viking likes the squared variety.
In a nest of walnut tables, Money Tree has walnut with cherry enamel-on-copper metal feet sunk into the wood.
A nest is $39.50, a coffee table is $69.50. You choose the me-ture with miniature fruit here and there. A third combines red poinsettia

leaves with red sequined
net, and the most splendid of all sets gold against overlapping white ribbon.

Smaller balls are $2.50
and up, folded with velvet ribbons, darkly gleaming sequins and gold braid.

Cummings Shop calls them
"kissin' balls" and forms
them out of long-lasting plastic, to yow! pine, mistletoe and poinsettia, with a teasing tail of mistletoe
at the bottom.

Flower Coop mines no words, and forms the whole kissing ball of mistletoe, adding the lipstick touch of bright red ribbon.

In a subtler vein, Prince-to Decorating hangs a ball made of beaded stalks in bright blue, with blue roses and streamers and sequins.

dallions, so it's really a custom gift.

Silver Shop has a miniature butler's tray on a stand, handmade of mahogany and useful as a butter mallet. Here, too, is an exquisite little French
table in Circasian walnut bur-oval, with carved border and all the grace in the world for its 27 inch length.

Card sharps will want either the round Sheraton mahogany with its center hinge and colored wood, or the round French for $425, or the black "leather"-topped walnut card table at Nassau Interiors. Both with four black cushioned folding chairs. Why not take both?

Viking sets down its coffee cup on a modest, 13-inch high end table in walnut made like a truncated triangle, moving later to the dramatic Star of India table with its white Carrara top.

Ivy Manor shows a triangular end-table in cherry with drop leaf, and an unusual office table with a drop-leaf Fruitwood and marble combine in coffee, end and step tables at $39.95 and $49.95.

HAVE A SEAT?

No, and I Need One. For hallway or boudoir, choose Granet's brass settee with its cranberry red velveten fabric and two roll cushions. Regent House, across the street in Somerville, has a two-foot square solid mahogany stool
in the French Provincial manner, with wine red velvet upholstered cushion.

The French influence appears again in Princeton Decorating's slipper chair done in lavender velvet and bound with gold braid.

Bright holly red basket-weave wool covers a wonderful Christmas chair at Nassau Interiors, a recliner that stays tilted at any angle you choose.
The ottoman, quilted, is a full 27 inches square.

Molded fiberglass shells have been covered with wool to make occasional chairs at Vik-

It's New To Us

rest back. Little brown wool on one chair covers all, including the easy, curving arms.
Rocker fans will want Viking's teak whose spindle back is covered by a hatching foam-pad, just like the one on the set. An X-frame marks each side.

Just Lay Back. That red leather chair for father is at Rug Mart for $199.95, complete with brass studs holding the top-grain leather and the luffed back. For Christmas delivery.

Recliners are Christmas favorites at Ivy Manor, where you may choose from plastic-nylon combinations, or all plastic or all plastic. They are $64.50 to $199 by Barealounge, La-Z-Boy, Berkeley, Stratolounge, La-Z-Boy or at Schwartz, too.

Fat little vinyl sprout from a "Mand" chair at Lenox is an upholstered chair with a 28-inch seat spread. Colonial wing chairs at Schiele are in provincial upholstery to your taste.

The J. F. K. influence being what it is, rockers are in demand. Rug Mart has Boston in maple or black with gold stencil, some with plump back and seat cushions for people sensitive to spindles. A capacious Pennsylvania Dutch "Farmhouse" rocker has a wide, almost heart-shaped back and warm, curving arms.

Ivy Manor's rocker is a redwood with a patchwork fabric and curving, barrel back.
A platform rocker here has a maple frame with foam back and cushion. And a Boston upholstered in velvet! Is this proper?

Viko pull-up chairs at Granette have bronze tubing and contour seats covered with plastic in five colors; you choose. $99.5. And speaking of pull-up, look at Manning's Handi-Nite tote stool, a small round fellow with a long handle, just right for reaching the top shelf.

ON THE FLOOR

A Rug, Not You. Vibrant colors by Cabin Craft are the pride of the house at Viking,
where they come in round,
hexagonal, wall-wall, cotton acrylic—goodness knows what all.

Rug Mart is showing the all-wool "Lively Arts" weaves,
in spirals and interlocking chains. Area rugs by Karastan or Lees at Ivy Manor will spark a neutral carpet, and textured rugs like the crewel ones will do the same, or stand alone 9x12: $379 (top).

A mohairproof Karastan Oriental 8.8 by 12 is available for $389.50 from Rug Mart
but you can go to a giant room size if you need to.

"A Girl's Best Friend"

Nothing can chase more than a tight Christmas allowance when you're about 11 years old with grandparents, uncles, aunts and above all, brothers and sisters to buy for.

Two young shoppers
with this vexatious problem were browsing the other day in Country Mouse, examining shrimp picks, shrimp lanterns and the like.

"It's my sister," sighed
one, to his companion.
"I'm, is that girl a problem?"

"Why?" asked his friend. "Get her something for her hobby, maybe.
What is her hobby, anyway?"

"Her hobby?" exploded
the first young man.
"That's the whole trouble with her hobby is collecting sterling silver!"

Increasingly during the past decade with modern furniture,
it has a contemporary lease
on life.

Charming Indian Numdahs
are $9.95 for a by six footer
at Parkhurst, Home Decor across the Mall, likes those lumpy rugs for children. A pink bearskin, a tough black football with "Princeton" in orange, or a very small train on a very small rug.

Navajos come in browns and blacks at Money Tree (no redskins?) and Mexican wool-cottons come in pleasing tweed textures and colors $34 and $68 for 6 x 9 and 9 x 12.

Home Furnishings, the shop on Witherspoon Street, has a lamb's wool rug, fresh off the lamb—an Australian lamb
big, thick and white.

ON THE WALL

Abstract, Concrete. Dudley
Morris' thoughts on the sea, snow and the weather are at Little Gallery. For under $100, you may have Helen Seigl's enchanting tiny prints, "Elf Child," "Zillip" and other childhood fancies, or any of Dan Miller's owls in ink on paper. There's a Picasso print reproducing his line drawing of a rooster in four colors, framed, $23.

Gallery 100's "Under $100"
selection includes Joan Dew's
"Daydream" print in yellows and ochre showing a small boy asleep with a wide-awake owl sitting on his head. The Chilean artist, Krahn, treated to an "Esquire" spread this fall is represented by a group of pen-and-ink cartoons. Look at "Abstract," a tiny—well, seascape?—by Pat Kelley, the Princeton artist, for $25.

Calligraphy, the result of treating etchings with soft washes, are executed by Ellen Kuhn for "Dancers I and II."
Diane Barbieri, Princeton ar-

has watercolors in the $40-$80 bracket.
Those who like the Oriental will look at Little Gallery's Chinese fisherman under the shadow of a mountain, the Japanese print of two geese and bamboo and Gallery 100's
"Hong Kong Ducks," a colorful scene in quite a different genre.

Kung Ping brings from the Hong Kong docks some scroll paintings on a bamboo so fine
it seems like silk. These are $89.95, $18.50. A sumptuous Japanese screen, with crane and pine on gold, is 42 by 72
and costs $185. Black and white on paper, in four panels, is for modest budgets: $12.

ON THE TABLE

Bibetols for Someone. Glass, to look at or to hold something, appears in many colors, shapes and nationalities at Gene Seal, where you may have smoky or dark Italian bad vases or clear, open-faced etched American bowls.

Reproductions of a true Japanese pottery have been made in the same locale and from the same clay beds as the original, centuries-old jugs and bowls. The color is a deep, earthy brown. Egyptian perished copper bowls, vases and trays are popular, and so are the bubbly Mexican glass jugs, goblets and umbrel-laded pale green cups.

Swedish milk glass comes in quilted, hobnail or striated patterns, some of the bowls freely formed, some fan-shaped. The pieces from Finland are amethyst or smoky green and blue, very simply made.
An oyster-white matte porcelain has a black matte cousin in which Princeton black-orange crowd likes to use. There are many pieces in this Gene Seal collection, and you needn't be confined to black or white; terracotta or pale sage green are available, too.

To the Purple. Amethyst is a popular color at The Laven-der Shoppe, as you might guess. A glass bowl with three candle-holders branching from
it has three lilac bobeches.

$8.95 Deeper amethyst makes a clear glass bowl with a knobbed glass standard. Comes in emerald, too.
Bubbling Veetolian glass fruit, fish, or amusing animals are light, bright additions to a room. Look at the piglet, the cat, the swan and the fish. An Italian porcelain rooster at lavender is so real he crows when we walked in the door $29.95.

Painted primitives from Mexico are the delight of Nassau Interiors this year. Cats, owls, chickens and a whole barnyard of grey and terra-cotta painted animals has been assembled for someone's Christmas pleasure (The owl is especially good: terribly professional).
At Princeton Gift Shop, there are lovely Swedish crystal pieces like the Jonah in his 18-inch whale, etched in color, and looking quite content. Fish and dolphins are also in this group. There's a wooden fruit compote, too, with each piece a different hue of walnut. Like a bird?

Money Tree has, among its door knockers, a flat brass lock with a key knocker. Brass name-plates, oval or oblong, are features of this shop. $12.50 postpaid, lettering in script or Gothic.

Know someone with a swinging door? Money Tree has hand-painted clear glass push-plates, done lovingly in gold and pale colors, and depicting butterflies, ferns, flowers and the like.

For smokers, Elmwood has a Worcester saucer to use for privilege—an ashtray. Different pictures in the center of each one. $10. Manning's has a white pottery ashtray with a blue and red border.

NOT for smokers are the oak or walnut wastebaskets at Nassau Interiors. Neither is the set of four nested wastebaskets ($6.95) papered with charming Persian bird design. What? These wastebaskets are alcohol-proof. No fooling. We've needed that for years.

Eighteenth Century, State Road, has the Williamsburg collection of each-pots from Virginia. Metalcrafters, verdigris finish on fluted urns, slim oval cache-pots with pierced tops. A Victorian epergne is triple, 14 inches tall. There's a Franklin urn, too.

To keep you comfortable, Viking has small, wool-covered occasional pillows, and Home Decor has antique satin bolster cushions, a box pillow in taupe, and a "needlepoint" square.

FOR DINING

Hot Or Cold. Salton produces the Add-On Hotray to extend the dimensions of your present Hotray. Single units, nine inches square can be fastened together without end. Princeton Gourmet and Urken's.

Gourmet is where you'll find the fish plates from France, in brilliant blue with a different white-glazed fish on each one, waiting for the sauce of at a restaurant. Six for $13.50, oven-proof.

The Cummins Shop's offering is a miniature steam table with three deep glass bowls that nest into a round pan of water kept hot by our old friend, electricity. Each bowl has a little copper lid; let's see Swedish meat-balls in this one, lobster Newburg in this one, and baby sausages in the third. $39.95.

Cummins' Thermo-Tray now has a control on the side. Comes with gold, walnut or white tray surface, in all kinds of sizes. While the heat's on, let's look at Rorer's private-label brands of toasters, coffee-makers and hand-mixers, for $10 and under. Oster has a knife-scissors sharpener here,

Let's Give the Smiths Something Different

Want to be remembered for your 1962 Christmas gift long after The Day? Here are some memorable things you might buy.

Black sheets. Yes, indeed, inky black, 220-count Fieldcrest percale. They come in orange, too, as you might guess in a surprise nest fall for a football weekend houseguest? also lemon, blue and a color referred to by Home Decor, where they are for sale, as "shocking white."

White fox pillow. Creamy, soft white fox fur pillow, 14 inches in diameter, backed with pale beige. At Princeton Decorating.

Stiff. A stiff is not a thoroughfare you walk along, but a foot-high Scandinavian with bushy hair and a beautifully worked wooden body. Try him on a coffee-table. Viking Furniture.

Dickens' autograph. A letter written by Charles Dickens and a portrait etching of him have been framed together against a pleasing royal blue mat. The price is $125, at Elmwood Antiques.

Antique sleighs. Graduated like a string of beads from three inches down to one-inch babies, all fastened to their original leather, these 1870 sleighs wait just for you at Country Mouse.

Original woodcut. Richard Keys' "Thompkins Square Park" is a long narrow woodcut of old men sitting on a park bench with pigeons fluttering nearby. It's $40 at Gallery 100.

One of a kind. An ashtray. These glass ashtrays at Rorer's in Hopewell are varicolored, striated, free-form, some of them milk glass combined with clear glass, others darkly opaque, all shaped by hand in the Imperial glass workrooms.

And Dominion an electric corn popper. Don't get them mixed. Corn popper is $9.95, shapener is $17.95.

University Store brings out the cups and the Party Perk Tricorator that makes four to 25 cups for $27.95.

Urken's likes electric can openers and the broil-bake tray for $9.95. Magnatite roaster, at $10.98, will do a 10-12 pound fowl right to a tin. But you gotta plug it in.

Silver, Crystal. For a fine table setting, Cummins suggests Waterford crystal, with that lovely "ping" of quality. Cut crystal bowl is $21, cream and sugar $10 and $15, martini pitcher, $17.50. There is matching stemware, too.

Democrats will want vermillion, just like Jackie's. LaVake has vermillion etched trays, salts and peppers, candlesticks and flatware, and listen, Mabel, you can even have your sterling vermillion LaVake says so. We're sticking with sterling.

Salad bowls at LaVake are mahogany with silver bases and silver handles on the tools. Enamel-lined silver bowls are fine for sautéed nuts because enamel doesn't tarnish. Someone you know could lay away her silver in a silver chest, from $17.95.

Some non-vermilion sterling is at The Silver Shop, a 12-piece setting of Gorham's "Lily of the Valley," now discontinued. This set has everything: fish knives and forks, oyster forks, dessert spoons.

What we like at Silver Shop is a Hockenheim cup and saucer from 1820 with an unusual apricot-colored border traced with gold. And look at the 1860 toast rack on its silver filigree leaf base. (Splendid for filing bills, if your toast has burned.) $22.

In absolute, total solid sterling, is a contemporary Gorham 20-inch wall and tree platter for $150, and what a Christmas goose it would hold! (Other sizes, too, plus bowls and a chop platter.)

Pewter and Wood. LaVake has just acquired the Steiff Williamsburg pewter, and a handsome collection it is, starting with a $77.25 walnut

Candle, Candle, Burning Bright

The warmth and glow of candle-light is everywhere this Christmas. The choice, and it is hard to choose, is that of variety, is up to you.

Country Mouse, a shop that specializes in candles. It has one whole section devoted only to bayberry. Taper, cylinder candles, tall and dignified, standard candles to go in a candlestick, the kind that unfold as they burn, bayberry wicks in a glass apothecary jar, and a magnificent red mailing tube for U.S. Post Office, decorated with a hearty Victorian Santa Claus.

For 30 cents at Country Mouse, you may have a scented candle button: jasmine, lilac, orange, rose, peonies, bayberry. Red "holly berries" are two-inch ball candles (50 cents). Tall, pillar candles start at $8 for a 22-inch patriarch and drip down from there in size and price. Real beeswax candles are at Country Mouse, too.

The Cummins Shop has a spectacular ivory candle almost two feet high with red gold bells roped around its outside. $20. A pale rose cylinder burns down to a softly luminous glow.

It's New To Us

handed tapers, and continuing through a round of mugs, trays, shallow bowls and like. Let that price frighten you, there is a beaker for $3.99, a small pitcher for $8.95 and a tall dish for $5.50. We like the cocktail shaker. For making 17th century martinis. Pewter is the pate d'oe in mason at Country Mouse, too, where you'll find coffee pot, sugar and creamer, circa 1895, reproduced circa 1960. It has a nice gleam, different in patina from the darker "country" pewter of some Country Mouse mugs, a small milk jug and a pair of candlesticks.

Viking invites you for coffee served in grey ironstone mugs, or in stone mugs with double "trigger" handles. Stainless cocktail forks take care of the shrimp and tank-knives of the steak (if beak is "teek" why isn't it beak "steek"?)

LINEN, COTTON, PLASTIC

We Like Them All. Linen for your table may be hand-embroidered mats from Stone either the $11.95 or the $12.5, depending on you, or the linen-like plastic at $7.95 to $12.95, and who's to know the difference except Mr. Stone? Hand-embroidered Madeira banquet cloths in this shop are as long as three yards, in ecru or white.

Quaker Lace is new this year at Clayton's where the hind a Renaissance painting of the wise men. Snow sequins fall before Notre Dame or St. Patrick's on Christmas Eve.

In a merrier mood, Cummins has gold sequin candles, and sequined columns of red, gold or green. And — careful here — real candles and special holders to put on your Christmas tree.

Those tall columnar candles appear again at Flower Coop, where they have the characteristic honeycomb of real beeswax. At Stone's Linen Shop, a red candle has a recessed vial cradle and candle.

Dank tapers at Gourmet fit into new candle-holders in a set of six triangles, or in singles. Thin tapers are held at angles for an unusual effect. (A hardener in the wax prevents dripping when the candle is at an angle.) A single set of six sizes of candles including angled tapers, and straight-up bigger candles.

Lavender has a velvet and beaded goblet, completely encased, with wax inside to make a burning candle.

And 18th Century Bouquet has a five-inch candle snuffer for $3.

white or natural cloths are daron or daron blend. They drip dry, just like your guests, and they start at $8.95 and go up to $22.95, all depending on size, and so on. Matching, laced-up napkins are 79 cents each.

For the solids among us, Clayton's has some fine linen cloths whose only decoration is a narrow scalloped scroll in the middle. Lots of sizes, priced around $10.

A Della Robbia printed linen cloth at Clayton's has a rich, almost autumnal border of pears and leaves in two shades of blue brown or gold, all on natural.

Princeton Gift lays the table with real linen mats plaided with foam backs. Big overall patterns of blue-purple poppies or turquoise-green apples keep things from getting prosaic.

And Old Lace. We've always been fascinated by the $400 lace tablecloth at Farkouh's. Anybody ever buy one? These cloths are Point de Milan or Point de Venice lace, Riche-lieu or Alencon, and absolutely indescribable. Who can describe $400 worth of lace?

You may also pay $3.98 for a ban eight-piece place mat set in Irish linen, so what are you crying about? Irish linen is Farkouh's favorite, but the shop will sell you butcher linen, vinyl treated to be wiped clean. These cloths come in solid, or kitchen patterns, up to three yards.

Some of the loveliest Farkouh things are the hand-embroidered mat-napkin sets with brilliant birds in each corner. There is a different bird for each napkin, each mat, on white Irish linen.

For cocktail napkins, you can't do better than a set of eight for $2.50, each napkin with an imbalbing bird. We happen to like the gold-backed pelican because he looks like the martini type. A growing rooster with gold feet is good, too.

NAMES NOT NEEDED: Henry Jones and Larry Jacobus agree that political pamphlets should not have to be signed before public distribution. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: The attorney for Princeton Borough has ruled that it is permissible to distribute political leaflets in the Borough that are unsigned. Do you agree with his ruling?

Where asked: Around town

Henry Jones, Kingston, mechanic, Gemberling's Service Station, 233 Nassau Street, I agree with him wholeheartedly. You're supposed to have freedom of speech in this country and I think it is silly to have to sign something first in order to hand it out.

Larry Jacobus, Hamilton Square, mechanic, Gemberling's Service Station: I agree that you shouldn't have to have a signature on a leaflet to hand it out. That's something you would expect in a police state, not in America. We're supposed to have freedom of speech and all that and yet I sometimes wonder if you or I were to stand on a corner and start talking about Russia, how far we would get before someone came up and grabbed us.

Mrs. Margaret Kronnager, 60 Pine Street, housewife: No, you never can tell whether the statements on a leaflet are right or wrong if you don't know who the people are behind it. I would be opposed to his ruling.

Mrs. John Fine, 112 Rollingmeade, teacher: Definitely, I believe in complete freedom of speech. It seems to me if the opinion expressed on the leaflet is an unpopular one then the person passing it out should be protected rather than have the population protected from the unpopular view. The civil liberties lawyer from Hightstown expressed this thought very well, in my opinion.

Charles Helmeitz, 440 Butler Avenue, graduate student: I would be opposed to his ruling, myself. If you know who is putting the leaflet out, you can judge the validity of it better. If you agree with the statement wholeheartedly, then it wouldn't matter so much; it would be less important to know who was putting it out. But if one hasn't thought about the subject that way before, or if it was something that could change or influence a person's thinking, then I think it is important to know who is behind it.

Mrs. Joyce Toomey, 76 Einstein Drive, housewife: Yes, I don't see any reason why they should be signed. This country has a long tradition of political pamphlets that have been unsigned. Great things have been written this way. So what if they may incite revolution and riot? They've done this in the past.

Gerrit V. Corley, 79 Wheatleaf Lane, retired architect: No, I think leaflets such as that ought to be signed. I think if they would have to be in order to be legal.

Mrs. Henry Bach, Jr., 46 Fackler Road, housewife: Well, I think I would be rather suspicious of any organization that would hesitate to name its officers and supporters. I don't see how they could get away with that judgment on the attorney's decision; that is a question of law, in my opinion. But I do feel anyone who has an opinion to express should not be ashamed to reveal his identity. I would regard this as being in the same category as unsigned letters to the editor.

Jack Geller, Roosevelt, home builder, Llanfair in Princeton: He's probably right. I don't think it makes much difference whether they are signed or not, as long as they are not slanderous or are ripping someone apart.

Mrs. John W. Thompson, 510 Roadside Road, housewife: No, I don't approve of that at all. I don't think a statement is worth anything if it isn't backed up with someone's name.

Robert Sharkey, 34 Stanworth, history teacher, Princeton University: I'm inclined to agree with him. I feel the people of our town are sufficiently mature enough to be subjected to material whether it is signed or unsigned. I don't think they will be perverted by the passing out of any unsigned leaflets.

Mrs. Norman Dahl, 221-B Eisenhower Street, housewife: That's hard to answer. On the one hand it's true as the borough officials said, that this being a student town, it is more likely physically violent may happen. But on the other hand, I agree with this decision because someone might want to distribute something for which he knows he may be attacked but still it is something he feels should be said no matter how unpopular it is. It is only fair for people to be able to say what they feel.

Henry L. Savage, 210 Prospect Avenue, retired emeritus member of the University faculty: If he has ruled that it is legal, you have to abide by his ruling, don't you? I would agree with it because he is a lawyer. No dissent is possible for something that the law rightly sanctions.

Mrs. Fredelle Maynard, Durham, N. H., teacher: No, I feel anyone who is distributing pamphlets should be willing to say his name. I assume anyone who feels strongly enough on something to hand out leaflets would have the courage of his conviction to say who he was. I don't like anonymous letters and I don't feel I would care for anonymous handouts.

Richard Musgrave, Pennington, teacher, Princeton University: I believe it should be completely free distribution but signed. That ought to be the principle. People should have the right to say what they want but be willing to identify themselves.

Mrs. Sylvia Doderer, Trenton, secretary, Smith, Stratton & Wise, Princeton Law firm: Yes, I think he is entitled to make that ruling. I feel if persons are distributing material, they should mind if their names lead to be on them. On the other hand, I wouldn't want my name on anything like that.

ed at LaVake, either severely military for men, or charmingly feminine for women. Plain, baroque, singly or in sets, by Gorham, in sterling.

At Home Decor, bedroom and bathroom are spruced up considerably by milk glass, white plastic powder boxes, trays and such painted with rosebuds, and by a brass-frosted aluminum soap tray. The brass feet are really dolphins — you know the kind.

Look Who! A shaving mirror with an ecdorian arm has been tucked in some man's stocking by Home Decor. His wife gets a sand-colored French provincial ecdorian hamper. (Some stocking.)

Hamper, hamper-bench (smaller), brush holder and basket come in Florentine gold, just like a necklace, trimmed with shiny brass. Much too pretty just for the old pair of socks.

Incidentally, you can floor your bath with wall-to-wall carpeting by buying a cotton 5 x 6 or 8 x 8 rug and trimming it to fit. Think of these cold mornings on bare feet.

Back in the dressing room, we find Clayton's sashed drawer liners in rose chintz or nylon to keep things sweet and clean. $2.50. Our very favorite Christmas present of the whole year is a $16 Scenter for a man. He puts it in his sock drawer to keep the air as fresh as heather.

Lamb's wool treated to look like mink makes a stole, hanger with a gold chain. Sue can keep her fur jacket in a black moiré, or lined with gold. Much better than a plastic bag, you see, because fur, Clayton's HUEATH, and it can't through plastic. We knew some need in life was crying to be met. Comes in full-length size 2, jacket length size is $6.95.

Velvet-covered hangers at Clayton's are $2 in sets, and quilted satin or plastic hangers in sets of four, are $1.25. Nice cheerful colors for a dark closet and its skeleton.

COZY

That's it. Out to bed, with a choice to make among Far-kouh's Wansutta and Peppercorn blankets in acrilan or wool, Clayton's knitted acrilan or wools, Stone's Lanaircel Scotch wools or the Atkinson wools from England. GE's electric blankets at Johnson Electric or Home Decor, or Home Decor's St. Mary's wool and acrilan.

The quilt might be Far-kouh's bedspread-quilt in an Egyptian pattern, reversible, or Home Decor's reversible cotton with daron fill in three colors per quilt (we saw a trio of warm blues); or the cerduroy reversible print in the same store.

Provincial or modern floral prints have been used on sacen for some acrilan-filled quilts at Clayton's in the $12.95-$19.95 range. These have solid color backs.

Animals and a circus play among the blue stripe-bars on a child's quilt at Stone's, while cherubs in pale green sport against the white of another quilt. There's a cowboy corral, too: you know how cold those prairie nights can be.

Queenstown has a lovely snowflake quilt, beautifully hand-stitched, with a hand-dove-tailed pine chest to put it in.

We think we'll just take a nap in Nassau Interiors' real rope hammock, knots tied by hand, check for $25, $30, $35, also written by hand. We're taking it to Florida with us.

In the bathroom, we find the 22 colors in Far-kouh's clayway tinzel collection, enough to make up any kind of set you want.

Home Decor will monogram almost anything (but towels, specifically) for Christmas delivery. The man comes to your door at 7 a.m., December 25. At Clayton's and Stone's, the Martice is the family name, with towels in t-see shops at $2 for the bath size. Clayton's takes the new printed, fringed towels, and the Jacquard designs that are reversible, showing white (or blue) daisies, depending. Solid colors co-ordinate with that motif.

PUT ON THE SKILLET And an Apron. An old-fashioned Irish linen buck towel, postalsie as a bustle, is available at Far-kouh's of all traditionalists. Moderns will buy $17.5 Stratford-On-Avon linen tea towels, and lovers of Pennsylvania Dutch will go for the mixer and toaster covers with that motif.

Money Tree suggests shiny ceramic cookie jars make like houses. Lift off the roof and you find a brownie. Painted windows and doors stand guard at the entrance. You pay $6.95 or $7.50, and why not give one to a big family of kids? Then mommie will HAVE to bake.

"Indulgences" is the title of "Dutch housewives" bank at Money Tree. An oblong box made of lin, it is divided into partitions labeled "Fancy," "Hobbies," "Records and Books," "Theatre," "Vacation" and — Money Tree's favorite: "On the Town." Put your money in now, take it out later.

Have One on Us. Stepping briefly from Kitchen to bar, we find Milholland and Olsen's square bottle with squeeze siphon metal top. No "circs." 1920?

Silver Shop offers you the Whisky Tot, a four-ounce crystal container that looks exactly like a maple-syrup dispenser. Top is silver. It was made, about 1908, to put on a bedside table in case of midnight indisposition.

A claret jug from 1870 is cut-glass with a full bottom and a stem, like a silver handle and hinged spout.

Eight sterling cordials welcome you at LaVake's, right next to the mahogany and silver ice-bucket. That Williamsburg pewter has a 12-inch pitcher with walnut handle and wide lip.

Lavender Shoppe's ice buckets are oak or walnut and brass. Nassau Interiors goes to the root of things with a 12-bottle wine rack in walnut and a kind of Tinkertoy divider rod. Cook your cocktail frankfurters over the hibachi, $9.95 or $14.95.

Or, take a hint from Johnson Electric and use an electric "Brochette" with eight cords for $29.95. We like Johnson's electric ice-crusher for the same price, and the ominous warning tag: "DO NOT INSERT ICE UNTIL MOTOR IS TURNED ON." ## SPORTS In Princeton

EYES ON PRINCETON
Basketball Team Impresses. Out in Toledo, O., they think rather highly of the Princeton basketball team. A Toledo team that is quite well regarded in top circles was knocked off by visiting Villanova Saturday night, 73 to 61. Five days earlier, Villanova had been knocked off by Princeton, 68 to 53, the loss in the Wildcats' fieldhouse marking the first time they had been beaten at home in four years and only the second time in 90 games. Toledo's question: "Whatinhell is going on at Princeton?"

A lot of other people, particularly at New Haven, Philadelphia and Ithaca, are beginning to wonder the same thing. Pre-season estimates had defending champion Yale, Penn and Cornell staging a three-way battle for the Ivy title, with Princeton conceded the ability to wreck the remaining first division berth away from the rest of the also-rans.

In the first ten days of play, Yale has been beaten by Connecticut at home and lost convincingly to Fordham on the road; Penn has barely gotten by Navy in overtime at Annapolis; and Cornell was a 12-point loser on its own court to little Bucknell. Meantime,

Basically, the Tigers have three things going for them:

- A quickly-established state in Bill Bradley, who is not only averaging 26 points in his first three games but is contributing invaluable all-around play on offense and defense.
- Growing balance on the attack, with Captain Art Hyland well up in double figures (15.3), Bill Haarlow not far behind and sophomore Don Niedman threatening to make it four starters topping ten points.
- Skillful defensive play, illustrated by ability to hold both Villanova and Army to low scores on their own courts while picking up far less fouls than the foes.

How Good Are They? It will be a while before the old performances last week, before an accurate estimate of Princeton's ability can be made. Told that he "shook up a lot of people around Philadelphia with the convincing triumph over Villanova," Butch Van Breda Kolff admitted, "It kind of shook me up, too."

The articulate alumnus feels that his team made a lot of progress during the past week, likes the degree of balance the offense is achieving and can find no serious flaw in defensive play to date. "We still have plenty to learn," he remarked after the Army game, but the Tigers' progress to mid-December is indicative of how much his squad has absorbed in the first six weeks since he took over.

Odds now are that Princeton will win its first six games, defeating Colgate and Navy in Dillon Gym this weekend and Rutgers at New Brunswick next Wednesday before the Christmas break. A three-game homecoming to play Duke, Davidson and Pittsburgh precedes the 14 consecutive Ivy League games.

A somewhat unpolished Army quintet faulted the Tigers so often at West Point that it lost the game on the free-throw line after outshooting the Orange and Black from the floor. Princeton led 21-20 margin in field goals, but Princeton caged 31 of 40 foul shots to 12 of 22 for the losers. Army was guilty of 27 personal fouls, and Princeton was shooting one-and-one most of the night.

The opening minutes produced see-saw action, with the Tigers gradually moving out to a 34-28 lead at half-time. Thereafter, they drew away steadily, leading by ten midway through the second half and by as much as 20 with a couple of minutes to go. Bradley hit for seven field goals and nine fouls for 23 points. Hyland was not far behind with 18 and Haarlow made it into double figures with 10. Van Breda Kolff used only seven players, Dick Chandler seeing considerable action as the team's "sixth man" and 6-4 Bill Howard making his varsity debut briefly toward the end.

Injuries continue to be a problem, with both Rick Wright and Dick Johnson out indefinitely. The two games this weekend (Colgate Friday at 8, Navy Saturday, same time) are a forerunner of the Friday-Saturday schedule that features double Ivy races, and Van Breda Kolff will get a good line on his starters' stamina and his bench strength.

WOES ARE MOUNTING
For Tiger Hockey Team. With a 1-4 record on the scoreboard and Captain Dave Hersey out for weeks with a dislocated shoulder, Princeton's hockey forces face a rugged future. Three more games — Continued on Page 34

Sports In Princeton

A key to the opening-game fortunes of the Blue and White may rest largely on the health of Al Gunnell, a 6-5 stand-out for the Rams, who gave PHS no end of trouble in the last fall. Borok reported that he had heard that Gunnell had injured his leg this summer and may not be ready to go Friday. However, this must be consigned to hearsay, as Borok said that he had not talked to Cliff Brautigan, the Hightstown coach, as he has in past years.

To upend Hightstown, Borok is depending on the five players whom he considers work best together. They are forwards Jimmy Case and Larry Madden, both 5-11; John Kowalski, 6-2, center; captain Hank Schmidt, 6-0, and Dave Hill, 5-9 guards. Case and Hill are juniors.

Case Moves Up. The elevation of Case as a starter is a surprise development. As recently as a week ago, he had not even been included in Borok's 12-member varsity squad. "Case has moved up fast," Borok acknowledged. "He has good moves, he passes off well and has a lot of speed."

The victim of Case's ascendancy is John Barber, one of three returning lettermen. "Barber is fighting hard," said Tony. "He realizes now that he needs something more than just one shot." As it stands, Barber will head a bench which Borok wishes were a lot stronger.

Hill, like Case, is the only starter who has not had varsity experience. At 5-9 he is easily the smallest player on the varsity and, at the present, its biggest question mark.

Put Hill outside on a playground lot and he'll tear the court apart. He has good moves and he's fast. But put him in a game when it counts and he goes tight. If this boy learns to relax, we are going to get a lot from him," said Borok. "We'll just have to wait and see what happens."

Kowalski played for PHS as a sophomore, moved away in his junior year, and returned this fall. Borok said he still lacks the experience he would like a starting center to have. A Kowalski shortcoming, according to Borok—lack of speed to cover the back court. Schmidt and Madden are the nucleus of the PHS attack. If they don't go, neither will the Little Tigers. Schmidt will be the playmaker and lead the back break.

Bench Is Weak. To overcome a lack of height, PHS last year employed a tight press from the opening buzzer with a great degree of success. This season Borok feels that a lack of replacements

Tradition Continued

Four Princeton Country Day School alumni are members of the current Princeton freshman hockey team, continuing a tradition that began a quarter-century ago. Coached by Peter Cook, the Class of 1960 shapes up as considerably better than average material.

Holding down starting berths are Howard "Mac" McMorris, a Deerfield product who plays defense, and Steve Cook, a member of the first line. Son of the coach, Steve is, reportedly, the last of the three brothers who have contributed so much to Princeton hockey. Brother John, a senior, has twice been an all-city selection.

Billy Lea and Bob Mueller, both St. Paul's graduates, are the other PCD alumni who will play for the freshmen this year. The Class of '60 opened its season with a 6-2 victory over Taft, plays at Lawrenceville Saturday at 3 and will be in action in Baker Park for the first time Tuesday at 4:45 against Brown.

will rule out any attempt to employ similar tactics. Aside from Barber, the PHS bench is wholly untested.

Reserve center seniors Brad Mont and Tom Sculerati and juniors Pete Weber and Tom Waters. Waters at 6-2 and Sculerati at 5-6 are the Mutt and Jeff of the squad. Waters will spell Kowalski at center and Sculerati will replace both Schmidt and Hill. Weber is a gargantuan and would give the Little Tigers beef under the basket, but he "has a lot to learn. Pete," said Tony, "will do everything you ask him, he gives you everything possible, he is a 100% kind of kid."

For the moment, Borok is satisfied he has assembled the best five players he can. "I'll go with them until I have made a change." He added it was hard to say at this point how his players would respond under certain conditions. "You look for any weak spot, you work on it, and you get somebody in there to remedy it."

Since Borok has settled on his starting five, he reported that the boys were more relaxed. "Now that the kids know who will be playing together, they are more at ease. They're not pressing. It is a more wholesome attitude. When you're fighting for a position—let's face it—it's dog-eat-dog."

HUN VERSUS FINGRY
In Opening Saturday, The Hun School basketball team will open its season Saturday night at 7:30 in the Theological Seminary gymnasium against Fingry. It will be the only contest in December for the Red and Black, which will not meet its second opponent, Pennington School, until January 9.

"I don't know a thing about pingry," reported Hun coach Rob Simpson. "and there won't be any opportunity to scout them." In fact, this element of the unknown carries over, in some measure, to the Hun squad itself.

This is Simpson's first year as coach at Hun. It is also his first attempt in coaching the sport. His abilities and that of the Hun team were not tested even in a scrimmage until this week. Hun held its first scrimmage Monday against Pennington and a second Wednesday.

nesday against always strong B.A. both too late to record here. Until this week, Simpson has had to content himself with saying there was plenty of spirit—it just wasn't among the Hun players.

Three of his starters to take the floor against Pingry will be returning lettermen—Alex Langel, captain and center and forwards Guy Wirsig and Richard Pait. These three from men all measure over six feet. The one change injected by Simpson has been the moving of Langel to the pivot on offense.

Scott Pace will be one of the starting hack court players. Simpson reported that Pace has looked "very good" in practice and "if he plays as well as he has in practice, he should have nothing to worry about." Only a sophomore, Pace, a native of Trenton, has a bright athletic career ahead of him. He came from nowhere in capture a starting position on the Hun football team this fall and now has duplicated this in basketball. The remaining guard position is being contested by Richie Kaplan, a senior, and juniors Herman Penner and Ted Isaacson. All like Pace are under 6 feet in height.

LARKIE TEAMS AT HOME
This Weekend. The Lawrenceville basketball and hockey teams will play home games Saturday afternoon. The basketball team will face an alumni squad at 2:30, while the hockey team will entertain the Princeton University freshman team on Lavino Rink at 3.

The skaters won their opener, defeating the Franklin and Marshall Hockey Club, 3-4. After the Princeton freshmen, they will be host to seven other schools in the annual Lawrenceville Invitational Tournament next Thursday and Friday.

Competing in the tournament will be Belmont Hill, Chonick, Hotchkiss, Kent, The Lakefield School of Ontario, Nichols and the University of Toronto Schools. The winner last year, Andover, will not compete because of a conflict in Christmas vacation schedules.

The basketball team won its first two games, defeating Trinity-Pawling, 63-51, and Haverford, 42-38. It was scheduled to play Brooklyn Poly-

Of Hockey Great. A portrait of Hobart A. H. "Hobey" Baker, a hockey star for Princeton University four decades ago, for whom the University skating rink is named, has been placed in the Trophy Hall of Dillon Gymnasium. Painted by Peter Cook, a member of the Class of 1937 who was himself a fine hockey player, a copy of the portrait has been placed in the main entrance of the vestibule in Baker Rink as well. The painting is situated in a memorial space established by the Class of 1914, of which Baker was a member.

Following the alumni game, the Red and Black quintet will take a three-week Christmas vacation before returning to the court on Wednesday, January 9, against Peddie at Hightstown.

The hockey team's first game after the Christmas tournament will be against Hope High School on Saturday, January 12, on Lavino Rink.

FIRST PLACE JAMMED
In Industrial League. RCA Labs, RCA Astro and Sannino A. C. continue to overpower all opposition, after the third week of play in the YMCA Research and Industrial League. Each has a perfect 3-0 record.

In games last week, Sannino swamped Food Machinery & Chemical, 110-21; Astro trounced McGraw Hill, 70-32, and RCA Labs defeated Post Office, 49-36. ETS won its second game in three starts by trouncing Princeton Hospital, 98-20.

Bob Kehoe with 26 points led four Sannino players who scored 20 or more points while Bob Gollander paced the losers with nine. Astro's Joe Cyburski and Pete Wise combined for 35 points to offset Jim D'Elia's 16-point effort for McGraw Hill.

With Joe Burns leading the way, RCA Labs jumped off to a 25-point half-time margin which Post Office was unable to overcome. Charles Streater and Vincent Mazzola scored 11 and eight points, while in front of Dutch Neck by six. Burns posted a game high of 25. Tom Wallace hit for 29 points and teammate Al Meyers added 27 more to lead ETS to its one-sided victory.

JIM MCKEEVER NAMED

To All Area Team, Jim McKeever, co-captain elect of the 1963 Princeton High School football team, has been named to the second All Area Football Team, covering the entire Delaware Valley. The 6-2, 235-pound standout tackle for the Little Tigers is the only junior to place on the second eleven.

Jim Norris, senior and cod for PHS this fall, was named on the third team. Players from more than 30 high schools in the area were considered for the selections made by the Trenton Times.

YMCA SWIMMER LOSE

In the Flying Fish Club Meets, The Princeton YMCA Flying Fish Club dropped its swim meets in both the girls and boys divisions last week. The girls lost, 110-61, to Montclair and the boys were outclassed, 104-86, by Morristown.

In addition to Leslie Bush in the diving competition, the girls captured five first places. The victors included Judy James, Pamela Sorg, Jennifer Clinton, Linda Cazin and Heidi Hoffman. Princeton also won the 200-yard medley relay for ages 15 to 17 with a team composed of Vicky Skibbins, Linda Cazin, Gail Blattenberger and Jacqui Linder.

The boys swept diving honors with David Bush capturing the 13-and-under division and George Good taking the 14-and-older event. Individual winners were Jeffrey Bush, Mike Desmond, Bill Noonan, Sherman White, Bob James and Frank Noosoa.

White, Jeffrey Bush, Halsett Johnson and Paul Bensoa combined to win the 100-yard, 10-and-under freestyle relay while Marila Shapiro, Jon Volweider, John Dean and Bill

Noonan took the 200-yard freestyle relay for ages 13 and 14. The girls meet Summit at home Saturday and the boys will travel to the Passaic Clifton Y.

MUSIC In Princeton

CONCERT SCHEDULED

By High School Choir. The Princeton High School Choir will present its Christmas concert at the Princeton University Chapel on Wednesday evening, December 19, at 8:15.

Consisting of 60 voices, the group is under the direction of Thomas Hilbich. The featured work is Bach's "Magnificat in D." Soloists will be Anne Switten, soprano; Beatrice Bilheimer, second soprano; Alan Abelson, tenor; and Joseph McKee, bass.

Accompanied by an orchestra, the choir will also sing a selection of Christmas carols which includes "Wonderous Was that Glorious Night" by Johann Christof Bach, an Italian traditional, and "A Carol" by Mark De Voto. All Princeton area residents are invited to attend.

Preceding the concert, a male quartet of seniors will perform Palestrina's "Hodie." The group consists of Julia Freeman, first soprano; Miss Bilheimer and Miss Switten, second sopranos; and Jane Watson, alto.

The freshman choir also will sing Christmas selections preceding the concert. Following the performance of the "Magnificat," the intermediate vocal classes will join the choir in singing R. Vaughan Williams' Cantata, "This Day."

The evening will coincide with the traditional performance in which the entire chorus and alumni members will participate. They will present Bach's "Break Forth O Beauteously Heavenly Light" and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

QUARTET IS HEARD

In Extra Concert. On Wednesday evening, December 5, in 10 McCosh Hall, the Princeton University Chorus presented an extra concert, outside the subscription series, by the Lowenguth String Quartet. The program, with a distinctly French accent, included the sole quartets of Maurice Ravel and Albert Roussel, as well as the Third Quartet of Arthur Honegger. (Less noted, but equally striking, was the fact that all three works were written in the 20th century, something which doesn't happen very often when admission is charged.) As an encore, the Scherzo from Debussy's Quartet was offered.

It is good to see that last year's precedent of extra concerts is being continued there will be another on February 25th, by the Paganini Quartet, and the change of locale is a definite improvement, whether by accident or design, the size of the audience was also an improvement on last season's concert, and would no doubt have been still better had the program been more generally appealing, the chamber works of Roussel and Honegger are, after all, pretty much unknown territory even for connoisseurs of the genre.

In the event, the Roussel turned out to be a not unpleasant taste of the refined French brew of post-Wagnerianism, and the Honegger a rather less attractive example of "modern" music, its progression of ideas always original without being particularly logical.

From these, it was a pleasure to turn to the small masterpiece that is Ravel's Quartet, and even more to the sample of the Debussy work, which was played with considerable elegance. The Ravel performance, unfortunately, was marred by patches of poor intonation (some of which, no doubt, can be blamed on the unfavorable atmospheric conditions) and, in the faster movements, by lack of enough spit-and-polish in the ensemble to clarify all the rhythmic points. Nevertheless, it gave pleasure, which was enhanced by the intimate surroundings, so much more favorable to the texture than would have been the great open spaces of McCarter.

BUSINESS In Princeton

BRANCH BANK TO OPEN
To Be Town's First Drive-In, Princeton's first drive-in bank will open Monday at 370 Nassau Street. The building will be the new East Nassau Street branch of the First National Bank of Princeton.

Business hours will be 9 to 3 Monday through Friday, and Friday evening, 5 to 7. An Open House is scheduled for Saturday from 1 to 4 and Princeton area residents are invited to see the new facilities and demonstrations of equipment.

Major features of the bank include two drive-in windows and sufficient parking space. According to John P. Poe, president of First National, the new office will save the customer valuable time. Besides allowing for transaction of business without requiring the customer to leave his car, the branch also eliminates the driver's concern for parking meters.

Equipped with bullet-proof windows, the bank is supplied with a two-way speaker system, to allow the driver to converse with the teller in normal tones.

PORTRAIT DEDICATED: A portrait of the late Claude Robinson, founder of Opinion Research Corporation, was dedicated this week in ceremonies at the firm's offices. The painting was done by Deane Keller of the School of Fine Arts of Yale University. Viewing the portrait are (clockwise) Walter G. Barlow, president of ORC; Dilman M. K. Smith, vice chairman; Mrs. Robinson, Joseph C. Revis, board chairman; and LeBaron R. Foster, vice president.

A mechanical device operated about department, said Mr. Poe, the letter places any article to be exchanged within easy reach of the customer.

facilities would save the customer a good deal of time normally spent searching for a parking spot. The bank presents an added convenience in inclement weather, he said. All banking services, including savings accounts, Christmas money orders, traveler's checks and loans of all varieties, will be conducted by the branch. Appointments may be arranged with the trust department to meet customers at the office to discuss matters of estate planning, trust administration, executor of decedents' estates, guardianships and similar fiduciary matters.

Donald A. Schanell will assist Victor J. Wilkes, manager of the new branch, it was announced by the First National's board of directors. Mr. Schanell, who joined the bank in 1953 as a bookkeeper, has served as the head of the bookkeeping department. Born here, he attended the American Institute of Banking after graduating from Princeton area schools. A resident with his wife and three daughters of Bolmar Avenue, Groves Mill, he is also a graduate of the state Banker's School of Public Relations.

DISCUSSION HELD

Taxpayer Law. The County Bankers' Association officers discussed a Federal law requiring taxpayer account numbers and all returns at a meeting at the Nassau Inn. The program was sponsored by the New Jersey Bankers Association.

Banks are required to include these numbers on all Federal tax information returns. John J. Horgan Jr., vice-president of the First National Bank of Princeton, pointed out that the law creates many problems for the public and for the banks.

More than 50 officials of the county organization attended the meeting. They also heard plans by the state group to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the dual commercial banking system in 1963.

AREA FIRM NAMED

To Join W. W. & J. D. Group, Lenhart and Company of Princeton has been elected to charter membership in World Marketers, the first world-wide marketing network.

The area firm joins representatives from some 70 countries who are affiliated in the international organization. The purpose of the network, said Walter B. Howe Inc., 24 Nassau Street, has completed a comprehensive course given by the Real Estate Institute of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards.

COURSE COMPLETED

By Howe Saleswoman. Mrs. Richard C. Dearborn of the Real Estate Department of Walter B. Howe Inc., 24 Nassau Street, has completed a comprehensive course given by the Real Estate Institute of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards.

Covering all phases of the field, the program was attended by more than 100 salesmen and brokers throughout the state. Mrs. Dearborn, who specializes in residential and farm properties particularly in the West Windsor area, made one of the three highest grades in the class. She has been a resident of Princeton Junction for the past ten years.

BUILDING TO BEGIN

For New Community. Brooktree East, Mercer County's newest home community, will begin construction this week of homes sold during the first six weeks showing of Amron models.

Since the opening of the project in September, 31 purchases have been made. Reservations for the first section have been completed and reservations for the second section are being accepted.

Located just south of the Princeton-Hightstown Road intersection on Dutch Creek Road, the community is offered for homes which range in price from $17,990 to $21,990. A 12-acre recreational center, to be called Brooktree Park, is presently under construction.

ATTORNEYS TO SPEAK

At Architects Meeting. William Miller, Princeton attorney and authority on municipal law, will address the Capital Chapter of the New Jersey Society of Architects.

The organization is scheduled to meet on Friday at Lambertville House, Lambertville. Mr. Miller will discuss "Municipalities and a Building Codes."

LOOK AT US!

We have a brand new face! It's taken a crew of decorators, carpenters, painters and other craftsmen a bit of time to do it, but here we are — rejuvenated, wrinkle-free — with a shop as fresh, as fashionable, as vibrant and as vital looking as you — the customers we serve. Yes, we've changed our appearance, but (and of this we want to assure you) we've retained our same old "heart."

We still offer the same professional services that drew you to us despite our aging visage. Why not drop in to admire us and meet our new staff members, Mr. Bernard and his assistant, Miss Jannice.
